Notorious Gossip

Mr. Williams had hired Sambo to paint his shed at the stipulated price of $2.50. Reappearing on the scene some time later he found Sambo lying in the shade enjoying himself while another Negro was busy painting.

"How is this, Sambo?" asked Mr. Williams. "I thought I hired you for that job."

"Yes, suh, Mr. Williams, Ah knows you did, but Ah done sublet the contract for $3."

"But," remonstrated Mr. Williams, "I pay you only $2.50, so you are losing money on this job."

"Yes suh, yes suh, Ah knows Ah is," was the reply. "But it's worth somethin' to be boss."

NAZI CONGRESS AT WEIMAR

Hitler Addresses Gathering

CITY RESTORED TO FORMER RANK

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Weimar, July 4.

The ceremonies held in the national theatre of this city in commemoration of the first National Socialist party congress here ten years ago continued on Saturday, Chancellor Hitler and his deputy, Rudolf Hess being the principal speakers.

The Chancellor pointed out that the Weimar congress of 1926 was an historic date for the National Socialist party since it set a precedent for the great party congresses which show solidarity of the National Socialist movement to the outside world.

When the Chancellor contrasted the new type of party congress with the meetings held by other parties in the years before the National Socialist accession to power, and declared that the Weimar meeting of ten years ago alone brought important results than all these other meetings put together, veterans of the National Socialist party crowding the theatre rose to their feet and cheered him to the echo.

The Chancellor's words recalling his earlier optimism "from the first moment I was convinced that this party will conquer Germany and will eliminate all other parties" was likewise received with a storm of enthusiasm.

The Chancellor then spoke of the Weimar degradation, historic city of German art and science, referring to the holding of the national assembly there in 1919 in the days of Germany's deepest humiliation and added "but we have restored Weimar to its former important rank among the German cities."—

LOAN FROM THE LEAGUE

Ethiopian Request Turned Down

Geneva, July 3.

It is understood the Ethiopian resolution asking for a loan from the League of Nations has been eliminated at a long meeting of the Bureau of the Assembly, sitting as a private committee this evening to examine various resolutions submitted.

The other Ethiopian resolution, proclaiming that there should be no recognition by force of arms, is covered by a more general statement, which will be made to the League.

A draft resolution will be submitted to the Assembly at the close of its session, reaffirming the principles of the Covenant and recognising that the League must be studied with a view to strengthening the League authority. The resolution will invite members to submit suggestions and it will ask the Co-Ordination Committee to recommend to the Governments the attitude they should take on sanctions.

The Mexican delegate announced he would abstain from voting, because he disapproved of the handling of the dispute.—

NICARAGUA'S DECISION

It was revealed to-day that Nicaragua's reason for notifying resignation from the League of Nations is that the questions at present confronting the League are foreign to the permanent interests of South American countries.

Nicaragua fears that the remaining members of the League may draw her into other people's wars.—

This revealed that it was agreed that a further meeting of the Locarno Powers represented at the March meeting in London is desirable, in order to discuss the present situation, at an early date.

It is understood that recent talks between the three Powers revealed a closer approximation of views than had previously been reached.—

MAIDEN SPEECH OF M. DELBOS

Reference To League Reform

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Geneva, July 3.

The maiden speech of the French Foreign Minister Delbos, who was the first to speak after the proceedings, interrupted so tragically by the journalist's suicide attempt, had been resumed, made a strong impression on all delegates by its clarity and the concrete proposals it contained.

Delbos said, "If the League of Nations has suffered a defeat in the painful drama enacted during the last few months, this was due to the weapons provided by the Covenant not having been employed with their full effectiveness. That was not the fault of the Covenant, in which we can place full confidence, and France will reject any proposal prejudicing the structure of the spirit of the Covenant. It is not a question of altering the principles of the Covenant, but of making their application more effective. For this reason my Government distrusts reform plans involving a change in the text, since in this case the letter is the guardian of the spirit.

"The French delegation will therefore not propose any fundamental alteration, but concentrate on finding practical methods to increase its effectiveness."—

BALDWIN AND THE THREE RHINE MAIDENS

An allegory of Baldwin and the Rhine Maidens, in Wagnerian Tradition, as told by General Sir Ian Hamilton at Manchester.

Baldwin, whose memory has been slipped by a treacherous friend into his drinking horn, has forgotten Brunnhilde and her Valkyries, and declares the Rhine to have become the frontier of Great Britain.

THE GOLD RING

To gratify the poetical side of his nature this cousin of Rudyard Kipling puts on the tarn helm, which confers invisibility, and travels incognito to visit his new property, wearing on his finger the gold signet ring issued to him by his own Foreign Office and hall-marked in Paris.

Thus fortified he strolls along the banks of the Rhine with the party of conspirators and false friends he has confidingly brought with him.

Suddenly, out of the depths of the stream, emerge the three Rhine Maidens, singing the sweetest, saddest, most poignant song ever yet heard by mortal man. "Baldwin, Baldwin, Baldwin," sing the maidens, "give back the Rhine to the Germans. Throw us that Gold Ring; throw it us quickly—quickly—or surely you must die."

But Baldwin has become what the Scots call "fey." He laughs sits down on a rock and begins to dictate his reminiscences, not noticing that the sky is becoming overcast by endless flights of Valkyries in formation, whose vast wings stretch athwart the vision of the sun.

Hen Hagen rushes forward and strikes Baldwin in the back with his spear. As he falls the Rhine rises—rises—dissolving the landscape, drowing France and Belgium, sweeping away Westminster and with it the entire fabric of civilisation, leaving not so much as is left to us now of Valhalla—not so much as a matchbox.

Sir Ian Hamilton was speaking at the 200th anniversary of the Manchester Luncheon Club. He said that he did not think we could ensue peace through any League of Nations framed on the present lines. There must be a fresh deal.

Mlle. Chanel, famous Paris dressmaker, has turned the tables on her 300 employees on strike by offering them her shop, workrooms and materials while she remains as an unpaid consultant.

Mlle. Chanel's secretary told the "Daily Mirror" on the telephone last night, "It is probable that if the strike is not ended by this week-end Mlle. Chanel will consider closing her Paris business entirely and reopening an establishment either in London or New York.

"So far she has made no decision."

BRITAIN'S NEED OF DESTROYERS

Clause Of Treaty To Be Invoked

U.S. AND JAPAN MAY FOLLOW SUIT

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 20.

I understand that Britain intends to take early steps to invoke the "escalator clause" of the London Naval Treaty of 1930 to enable her to increase her destroyer strength, writes a correspondent.

This follows the disinclination of the United States and Japan to discuss the British proposal to retain 40,000 tons of old destroyers in excess of the 150,000 tons quota allotted by the London Naval Treaty.

They suggested, instead, that Great Britain should adopt the more formal procedure of invoking the "escalator clause" of the Treaty.

This provides that if a signatory Power considers its national security to be materially affected by new construction by a non-Treaty State, it shall notify the other parties as to the increases required in its own tonnages, and shall be entitled to make such increase.

JAPAN'S AIMS

The clause also empowers the other parties to make a proportionate increase.

American and Japanese preference for the employment of the "escalator clause" can only mean, I am informed, that both Powers are determined to make equivalent increases in their own tonnage quotas.

It is doubtful, however, whether Japan is entitled to retain extra submarines in place of destroyers, as she is understood to have proposed.

There is no doubt that post-Treaty developments fully warrant the invocation of the "escalator clause" by this country. During the 1930 Naval Conference it was expressly stated by our representatives that Britain's pledge not to exceed 150,000 tons of destroyers by the end of this year was conditional on a big reduction in foreign submarine strength.

Actually, there has been a very substantial increase in foreign undersea tonnage since 1930. The ratio of British destroyer tonnage to foreign submarine strength which was contemplated by the 1930 Treaty has been completely upset.

ROSES AS RENT FOR WINDOW

Ceremony Revived After 500 Years

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 20.

After a lapse of five centuries, a ceremony will be revived in the City of London next Wednesday when a red rose and a white rose will be handed to the Lord Mayor, Sir Percy Vincent, as rent for a window in Seething-lane, E.C.

Actually the window no longer exists. It was built by Robert Knolles, or Knollys, a military commander who served at the siege of La Roche d'Orient in 1346, was a resident in Seething-lane at the time of Wat Tyler's rebellion and was present when the rebel was felled at Smithfield by the Mayor, Walworth. As a reward for his services he was made a Freeman of the City by the City and the King granted him the manor of St. Pancras.

When he "built out" the window, objections were raised, but a compromise was arrived at. He was allowed to retain the window on condition "that he pay a yearly rent of a rose on the Feast of St. John the Baptist."

This is June 24. As the election of Sheriffs is on that day, the rent will be paid the day before, the first time since Knolles' death in 1407.

Revival of the payment is due to the Rev. P. B. Clayton, Vicar of All Hallows, Barking by the Tower, of which church Knolles was a good friend when he lived near by in Seething-lane. The roses will be handed to the Lord Mayor when he receives members of Toc H at the Mansion House on Wednesday in connection with the birthday celebration of that institution.

EMPEROR AND SCOTS

HIS DESIRE

London, June 17.

If the Emperor visits Scotland before his departure for Switzerland he will fulfil a long-expressed desire. As ruler of a mountain country, he has always desired to see our mountain districts and their tribesmen.

When Lord Airlie was in Abyssinia for the Coronation, as Equerry to the Duke of Gloucester, he invited him to stay with him at Cortachy.

But the Emperor is more likely to stay with the Duchess of Hamilton, at Dungavel, in the south, which is not so far away.

On his last visit the Emperor saw something of English country life when he visited Lord Noel-Buxton in Norfolk. Here he obtained inspiration for the decoration of his new palace in Addis Ababa, which he ordered to be done in the style of an English country house.

"VERY DISLOYAL"

One of the last Oriental monarchs to visit Scotland was King Feisal, who displayed as lively an interest in the Scots as in the Kurds who inhabit the mountain districts of Irak.

As the guest of a Scottish laird his health was drunk after dinner, but, as it was only an informal occasion, it did not occur to the host to propose the King of England's health first. King Feisal afterwards expressed himself much surprised by this.

"The tribes," he said to a friend, "must be very disloyal."

1 CAR OUT OF 600 CAUSES A DEATH

Injury Results From 1 In 20

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 20.

"Every day since I became Minister of Transport nearly two years ago," said Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha at Hastings yesterday, "there has been a net addition of 500 mechanically-propelled vehicles to the roads.

"Every year one motor in 600 on the road kills; one motor vehicle in every 20 injures."

The Minister of Transport opened at Hastings a new underground car park, and enterprise which, he said, put Hastings ahead of all other seaside resorts. It was the first in the world on a large scale to be constructed under civic auspices.

When the Corporation's scheme was completed they would be able to accommodate beneath the promenade 1,200 cars, or more than a third of all the mechanically propelled vehicles licensed in the borough. If London and other cities could make a similar provision there would be none of the congestion for which stationary vehicles were responsible and because of which many of Britain's principal streets were deprived of half their traffic value.

"It cannot be too strongly emphasised that the streets are intended to be through-ways, and not parking places," said Mr. Hore-Belisha.

"You have desired to make your town as safe as possible and it is right that the country as a whole should know of your success.

"When one considers that you receive annually 100,000 visitors by rail, and even more by road, this is a remarkable record.

MAN AND HIS MEALS

Modern woman is being severely taken to task these days for her alleged inability or unwillingness to cook. To the condemnation of the "Strong Man" of South China and of an Australian Judge recently noted in these columns is now added the criticism of a police surgeon and a member of Parliament. The member for West Renfrewshire stated this week when he was opening an exhibition of school work at Greenock that the young woman of to-day either could not or would not cook, and yesterday a Sheffield police surgeon told a conference of chief constables that he "would sooner have a bobby married to a cook on a beat than to many of the present-day wives." If it is true that the needs of an age produce their own saviour then we may expect another Mrs Beeton to arise.

So much that is beautiful and romantic awaits you in Austria: Vienna—the world's music centre; Salzburg—the festival city; the Styrian woodlands; the beautiful Danube valley; the lakes of Salzkammergut and Carinthia; the Tyrol and Vorarlberg—lands of picturesque peasants and snow capped mountains; and the lovely landscapes of Lower and Upper Austria. Both for Summer Holidays (Golf, Tennis, Swimming, Climbing, etc.) and for Winter-Sports, Austria has become more popular than ever. Come to Austria at any time of the year—you may be sure of a kindly welcome.

TO GET RID OF

STOMACH TROUBLES

An English Doctor writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

(Signed) Dr. H. G——, M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach trouble is caused by acidity, and the reason why 'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK

Mail News From Home

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 23.

In 1742 the Manor of Otford in Kent was used. It was not until 1751 that the Chiltern Hundreds came into fashion—even then having to contend with an application for the Manor of Barkamstead in the same year.

On one occasion—in 1775—Lord North refused an application for the Chiltern Hundreds by a political opponent.

The modern rule is that the Chancellor does not examine the reasons for the request unless there is an election petition or unless criminal proceedings have been instituted against the member making application.

NAZI DERBY

In sending three of his horses—Hairan, Baber Shah and Sind—to race in the Braunes Band (Brown Riband) at the Riem in Munich next month, the Aga Khan is reverting to a practice common in Victorian days.

English racing owners then often entered for the Baden-Baden races in August. The Duke of Hamilton, who was a very prominent social figure in early Victorian days, and married a Baden Princess, started this fashion, which his son, the present Duke's predecesor, continued.

As its name indicates, the Braunes Band is of Nazi origin. The winner receives 100,000 marks (about £8,000), which is given by the Munich Turf Club.

There was one English horse in the Braunes Band race last year, when a German horse won. In 1934 an Italian horse, ridden by a coloured jockey, took the Brown Riband. Owing, however, to the currency restrictions, the winner could not take any of his money out of the country.

FROM CABBY TO RACING OWNER

Herr Christian Weber, the president of the Munich Riem, is one of Herr Hitler's closest friends.

Starting as a cab driver, he now owns one of the best rading stables in Germany. He has one English horse in his stud now, On Top, which he purchased when he was in England in April.

Herr Weber also holds the controlling interest in a filling station syndicate. In the summer he runs a fleet of sight-seeing buses.

Besides being president of the Munich Riem, Herr Weber is president of the Munich Turf Club and director of the Bavarian Hunt, Munich, and holds the title of "Head Hunter for Upper Bavaria."

In politics Herr Weber plays an equally important role. He is President of the Government for Upper Bavaria and lives to the Residenz, formerly the palace of the Kings of Bavaria.

DUKE OF ADDIS ABABA

To the British public, I should imagine, the new Duke of Addis Ababa will remain Marshal Badoglio. It is so much easier to remember.

There is no reason why this should not be so. Before his elevation he was seldom referred to by his proper title of Marchese di Sabotino. It is difficult, too, to remember that D'Annunzio should be called the Prince of Monte Nivoso.

Napoleon's Marshals were the more effectively concealed by the honours he showered on them because he had so many.

I wonder how many of the historically minded among my readers can at a glance ascribe the more familiar names to the following:

Prince of Wagram, King of Naples, Duke of Rivoli and Prince of Essling, Duke of Castiglione, Duke of Dalmatia, Duke of Montebello, Duke of Treviso, Prince of the Moskowa, Duke of Auerstadt and Prince of Eckmuhl, Duke of Belluno, Duke of Taranto, Duke of Reggio, Duke of Albufera, Duke of Otranto

TALLEYRAND PROFITED

For the benefit of those who give it up I translate.

These various dignities were conferred on, respectively.

Berthier, Murat, Massena, Augereau, Soult, Lannes, Mortier, Ney, Davout, Kellerman, Victor, Macdonald, Oudinot, Marmont and Fouche.

Apart from Murat, who reigned uneasily in Naples until the Allies, in spite of their treaty with him, compassed his downfall, none acquired any territorial benefit from his new title.

Talleyrand, of course, became Prince of Benevento, a Papal enclave in the Kingdom of Naples, and got the State as well as the title.

A VISITOR FROM CHINA

London, June 19.

There were several distinguished visitors at the board meeting of the London Missionary Society yesterday. One was Dr. Yi Fang Wu, the little Chinese lady who is chairman of the National Christian Council of China, and who, as principal of Gingling College, Nanking, the leading women's college of China, exercises a great influence, through the well-trained women she sends out, on the public and social life of her country. She is in England for the first time, and while here she hopes to see something of the universities of Oxford, Cambridge, London, and, perhaps, Edinburgh, and to visit schools of all types with the idea of getting an insight into the whole of our educational system.

Another visitor at Livingstone House was Sir Hubert Murray, Governor of Papua, whose sympathy with missions is well known. He himself, is a Roman Catholic, but, he said, he is glad to be recognised as a friend of all Christian missions, without distinction of creed. "The mistake we are apt to make about the Churches we don't belong to," he said, "is that we emphasise the points on which we differ with them, instead of laying stress on the points of agreement." The criticism from which missionaries suffered so much in the past was partly a pose, Sir Hubert thought, intended to show the superiority of the critic, and partly it was sheer ignorance, the critics often admitting, when challenged, that they had never met a missionary

Although he never went near his principality, he administered it very well—and very profitably.

Mineral deficiency

stands between you and REAL HEALTH

One small defect impairs the efficiency of the most perfect piece of mechanism. And that applies to nature's masterpiece—your body. If the cells are starved ill-health follows. Calcium is the one vital mineral without which the life centre of the body cells would shrivel and die, and Kalzana supplies this element in a form which the system can easily assimilate and retain.

By remedying this deficiency and making the cell-nucleus plump and strong, Kalzana gets right to the root of ill health. Kalzana improves the condition of the blood, strengthens the whole body and supplies the teeth with the elements they need to keep them hard and white and immune from decay. A course of Kalzana quickly gives new strength and vigour—begin yours to-day.

"I am never without Kalzana, not taking them always, but at any time of extra strain, and when there are colds and other infections about. I find my resistance to illness, and general health marvellous."

"MORE PROSPERITY ON THE WAY"

EX-CHANCELLOR MAKES A PROPHECY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 20.

Remarkable as Britain's recovery from depression has been, even greater prosperity is ahead, according to Mr. Reginald McKenna, chairman of the Midland Bank and a former Chancellor of the Exchequer. Addressing the annual meeting of the Institute of Municipal Treasurers and Accountants at Blackpool yesterday, Mr. McKenna expressed these views:—

There is strong reason to hope that 1936 will not prove the peak of the upward movement in trade.

Our own internal power of recovery is by no means exhausted.

The prospect of reaching full employment—which can probably be regarded as attained if the figures of unemployment are reduced to something under a million—is favourable under the influence of cheap money.

HOME DEMAND EXPANDS

The ground on which recovery had been built, Mr. McKenna declared, was much firmer to-day than in 1929, and the speculative element in the business situation, which seven years ago gave cause for anxiety, was confined, so far as it existed, within narrow limits.

The recovery in business during the past few years had sprung from a remarkable expansion of home demand for the products of our industries.

TWO AIRCRAFT CARRIERS FOR GERMANY

EACH TO CARRY OVER 50 'PLANES

(By HECTOR C. BYWATER.)

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 23.

I am able to disclose that two aircraft carriers for the German Navy were laid down early this year and are now well advanced.

Up to now the German Press has merely reported that the building of one ship of this type was "under consideration." The fact that the keels of two such vessels had already been laid down was not revealed.

The new ships are understood to displace over 15,000 tons, and to have accommodation for 50 to 60 seaplanes each.

I learn also that the new cruiser now on the stocks, whose existence was disclosed for the first time last month, is a ship of 6,000 to 7,000 tons, to be armed with 6in. guns. The cruisers G and H begun last year are much larger vessels, displacing 10,000 tons and mounting eight 8in. guns.

Launching dates for all German warships are now kept secret, but it is known that during the next 12 months the following vessels will go afloat:

2 battleships of 26,000 tons;
2 big cruisers;
1 aircraft carrier;
16 super-destroyers of 1,625 tons; and
14 submarines.

A large number of motor torpedo boats with speeds up to 48 knots will also be launched.

10,000 FACES HE NEVER FORGOT

THE BOYS HE TAUGHT

London, June 19.

Mr. James Bewsher, the headmaster who never forgot a face, had died at his home at Gunterstone-road, West Kensington, London, aged seventy-five.

He had been ill only a short time.

Mr. Bewsher was for forty-two years headmaster at Colet Court years headmaster at Colet Court, St. Paul's Preparatory School, Hammersmith, and was one of the most famous of preparatory school headmasters.

Ten thousand boys passed through his hands, yet he never forgot a face and was able to recognise and remember the history of any old boy he met.

THE BRIDE COMES HOME

Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray, seen together for the first time in "The Gilded Lily," are back in another of Paramount's sprightly modern screen romances, "The Bride Comes Home," which opened yesterday at the Star Theatre.

Miss Colbert is cast as the daughter of William Collier, Sr., a former man of wealth who has fallen on evil days. The two of them are down to a diet of beans as the story opens, and Miss Colbert decides it is time she went to work.

Her childhood sweetheart, Robert Young, has just inherited three million dollars and for a long time has been asking her to marry him. He is addicted to the bottle, however, and his proclivity for getting into fights makes it necessary for a bodyguard to accompany him in his roamings. The bodyguard, a former newspaperman, is Fred MacMurray, whose right first solves many an embarrassing problem for his youthful employer.

The young millionaire establishes a magazine and makes MacMurray its editor. Then Miss Colbert shows up, seeking a job. Young appoints her assistant to MacMurray and the two have no more than met before they are in a fight.

MacMurray professes to despise his unwelcome assistant until he learns that she's really working because she needs the money. Then they fall in love. They decide to get married. They scream epithets at each other by the hour and the simple wedding they had planned is passed up in favour of a beautiful clash of temperament.

Miss Colbert, after breaking off with MacMurray, finally consents to marry Young and they start for Crown Point, the "Gretna Green" outside Chicago. The high-spirited Miss Colbert tries valiantly to pick a fight wth Young, but he is too easy-going and won't even argue with her. She wants to fight.

Meanwhile . . . Well, exciting things are yet to happen. The marrying squire, played by Edgar Kennedy, who himself is endowed with a remarkable capacity for fighting, provides Miss Colbert with an opponent almost worthy of her tongue-lashing talents.

The combination of Miss Colbert, Fred MacMurray and Robert Young is a happy one and especially in this story. The entire cast, in fact, deserves credit for one of the sprightliest, most amusing screen romances of the year.

FILM STAR TO SPEND LIFE FOR SICK

New York.

In gratitude for being cured, almost miraculously, of her mysterious tropical disease, beautiful Edwina Booth, the film star, has dedicated all her future leisure and a large proportion of any earnings to alleviate human suffering.

To-day, giving me the first interview since her recovery, she told me her plan of living a life of complete sacrifice. "My years of illness have not been wasted. I have learned to love mankind, and it was largely the time I spent as an invalid in England that has made me feel like this. Everyone was so touchingly kind," she said.

"My most cherished memory is of a group of Cockney children playing cricket in Hyde Park who, seeing me in an invalid chair, bothered to leave their game to talk to me."

There were tears in Miss Booth's eyes when she added. "It is touches of kindness like this that I am out to repay."

FILM OF LIFE IN THE ARMY

Preparing Badges For The "First Wessex"

A film of life in the British Army is to be made by the Gaumont-British Corporation in co-operation with the Army Council. The military authorities and the Southern Command have granted facilities for the filming of the great parade at Tidworth on the occasion of the King's birthday on June 23.

The fim will cover all phases of Army life and training and the troops will be drawn from different units for different episodes. The battalion represented in the film will be called the First Wessex, and special badges for the film regiment will be prepared by the Royal Army Ordnance Corps. In all something like 10,000 troops, including infantry, cavalry, artillery, and mechanized Forces, will appear in the production. A battle between troops of the British Garrison and pirates near a China station will be fought.

The British India Steam Navigation Company has agreed to lend the film company the troopship Dilwara for the embarcation scenes, which will be filmed at Southampton. Mr. Raoul Walsh, the American producer, will direct the production.

THE CASE AGAINST MRS. AMES

AT THE QUEEN'S

Heartaches and pathos are crammed full into the picture "The Case Against Mrs. Ames" now showing at the Queen's Theatre with Madeleine Carroll and George Brent in the stellar roles.

Hope Ames (Madeleine Carroll) is on trial for the murder of her husband. Her mother-in-law detested her ever since she married her son, but for the sake of the baby boy retains a million-dollar legal battery headed by Lawrence Waterson (Alan Mowbray) to defend her. Matt Logan (Brent) as the ruthless prosecuting officer did his worst to convict her but she is free. He is gaoled for contempt of court.

Ames, free once more, began a legal battle for the child. Her lawyer made things bad for her in the legal battle and in her desperation she arranges Brent's release hoping thus he may bring in fresh evidence. How Brent found the solution to the murder by following up a hunch and thus helped Hope Ames to retain the child are all vividly portrayed on the screen.

The picture is good entertainment, bringing as it does the splendid acting of Madeleine Carroll, well backed up by an able cast.

Preceding the main feature are two shorts very appropriate and entertaining.—"O".

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

AT THE KING'S AND ALHAMBRA

Crowds will see "The Country Doctor," now showing at the Theatres, because of the Dionne quintuplets, and they will not be disappointed because these famous babies are adorable and are living miracles. More than that, they are an unparalleled triumph to the obscure doctor who brought them into the world and raised them to the happy, healthy two-year olds they are to-day.

Containing the elements of greatness, it has sufficient drama, humour, and the things which will strike a common chord in the hearts of all. The "love interest" could easily be dispensed with, for the romance of the country doctor, who practised 35 years in the north-west of Canada and counted himself amply repaid, by two pigs for the delivery of twins, and later became world-famous, but could not understand why, is "romance in all its fullness.

Any weakness the story might have is fully balanced by the splendid performance of Jean Hersholt as the doctor. Others who ably supported him were Miss Dorothy Peterson as the nurse and Slim Summerville as the representative of the law. And short though their appearance is, probably owing to the laws of Canada the quintuplets steal all hearts and the film is noteworthy because of their presence, if for nothing else. This film should not be missed.

I.-G. DEFENDS CUSTOMS CRUISERS' ACTIONS

Why Did Japanese Try To Escape?

Shanghai, June 29.

The Chinese Government directed Sir Frederick Maze, the Inspector-General, to submit a report on the recent seizures by the Customs of Japanese vessels engaged in smuggling off Chikou and Tsingtao, and the following is a synopsis of his narrative of the occurrences in question:—

In respect of the two recent seizures of Japanese smuggling vessels in Chikou and Tsingtao water, the Customs preventive agencies in both cases adhered to normal procedure where the protection of the fiscal interests of a sovereign power is concerned. In both cases, the vessels were seized in territorial waters; and, as both were signalled to stop for investigation without effect, warning shots were therefore fired in the air and wide of the mark, to compel them to do so. In the Chikou instance, the vessel hove to after some 30 rounds were subsequently fired at her stern, and she was afterwards towed to Tangku. On arrival, the Customs medical officer offered to attend the wounded, but his services were declined. Subsequently, Japanese Consular armed police and gendarmes repaired to the local Customs Office and violently assaulted the Customs officers there.

SMUGGLING ADMITTED

According to a statement of men on board the seized vessel, she arrived off Chikou a few days previously and landed a cargo of illicit sugar; and when boarded some bags of sugar were thrown overboard, and two cases of ginseng were found on board. If the vessel was not engaged in smuggling, what was she doing off a non-Treaty Port, and why did she try to evade inspection? (Article V of the Treaty of Commerce and Navigation signed by Japan and China in 1896 states specifically that if any vessel should unlawfully enter ports other than open ports and ports of call in China, or carry on clandestine trade along the coast or rivers, the vessel, with her cargo, shall be subject to confiscation by the Chinese Government.)

The vessel in Tsingtao waters was seized on specific information, indicating the date of her departure from Dairen, nature of cargo, and probable date of arrival, etc. A Customs preventive cutter was accordingly detailed to intercept her, but she was warned by flashlight signals from confederates on shore, turned, and fled. One of the cutter's motor-boats (not the parent ship) gave chase, first signalled by flashlight and siren to the vessel to stop, and, as no notice was taken, a few rounds were fired in the air as a further signal for her to heave to, and, as she still failed to do so, some shots were fired at the wheelhouse and rudder, but nobody was injured. The motor-boat continued the pursuit and when she drew alongside the Customs officials found the wheel lashed at midships and the crew below. The vessel contained large quantities of sugar and artificial silk yarn.

AN ACCIDENT

At daybreak it was observed that a flag was furled closely round a bamboo pole, lashed to the after bulwarks, and a sailor was ordered to investigate as the emblem could not be distinguished. When the spar was unlashed, a heavy roll caused it, with the flag, to fall overboard, and, as some sea was running, no attempt was made to recover it. Seeing that the so-called 'flag incident' was thus an accident, the Tsingtao Commissioner was instructed to express his regret for the occurrence to the Japanese Consul-General.

It is likewise claimed that this vessel was not engaged in smuggling, yet she was warned by shore-signals of the approach of the Customs preventive vessel and, on being thus warned, endeavoured to escape. Why? The charges that the Customs used dum-dum bullets and did not succour the wounded are without foundation.

Following the attack on the Tangku office, referred to above, an official report has since been received that Japanese mobs have attacked the Tsingtao Customs House, which was protected by the Japanese Consular authorities. The extent of the damage is unknown.—(N.C.D.N.)

OLDEST CONTINENTS

London, June 17.

Which is the oldest continent? Geologists assert that, according to rock and other evidence in Australia, that land antedates both Europe and America. They hold that it was once linked to Asia and Africa, and thus it and those continents are of equal age.

FLOWERS FOR THE KING'S BIRTHDAY

London, June 20.

The pleasant habit of saying it with flowers seems to be spreading. The other day I recalled how Londoners last year celebrated the Jubilee with window boxes, and to-day I hear that the London Gardens Society is urging the King's loyal subjects to wear buttonholes on his birthday (June 23). King Edward's interest in gardening is well-known, and it is thought that a tribute of flowers will please him as well as brightening the streets of London for a day. There is no suggestion that this should be a disguised flag day. Nobody is going to pester the unadorned citizen to buy a rose at the moment when he has thirty seconds to catch his train. It is hoped that all those who have gardens or even window boxes, will wear buttonholes of their own growing, and that only those who have no flowers of their own should buy them in shops.

A good deal of interest is being taken in the idea At St. George's Hospital, of which the King is patron, every patient and member of the staff will be given a buttonhole by the flower industry, and many firms have agreed to provide flowers for their employees. In some schools every child and teacher is to wear a buttonhole, and to save expense for parents with small incomes the London Gardens Society is arranging that schools in industrial districts of London which need flowers shall be supplied with them by schools in the country.

AGED WOMAN BOUND OVER

SAMARITAN WORK APPRECIATED

The cares of a woman, Wong Lin, aged 80 years, are now in the hands of the Little Sisters of the Poor and she has returned to the Home for the Aged Poor in Kowloon City.

The old woman came before Mr. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Thursday last charged with a breach of the Deportation Ordinance and two nuns of the Little Sisters pleaded for her that she might return to the Home.

On Saturday morning, the Magistrate said that he understood that arrangements had been made for her to return to the Little Sisters of the Poor. She would be bound over in a bond for $5 to come up for judgment when called upon to do so in six months.

When told that she could return to the Home, the woman thanked his Worship and made a sign of the Cross as she left the dock.

Sergeant A. E. Banks had charge of the case.

OPIUM POSSESSION

Heavy Fine Imposed

STORY DISBELIEVED

Appearing on remand before Mr. J. H. B. Lee at the Central Court on Saturday on a charge of possession of 210 taels of prepared opium on the Sai Kong Wharf on June 20, Chan Yau, 28, unemployed was found guilty.

Mr. D. McCallum appeared for the defendant, R. O. Grimmitt was the prosecuting officer.

At the opening of Saturday's proceedings, R. O. Grimmitt asked to bring in an additional charge, that of possession of a quantity of raw opium.

Mr. McCallum objected to the extra charge going in saying that he was quite at a loss as only one certificate had been put in. His Worship however pointed out that there were two.

R. O. Grimmitt then intimated that if Mr. McCallum's objection was upheld then the charge would be brought forth as the matter for another trial subsequent to the present one.

Mr. McCallum then said that if His Worship were going to uphold the objection and if the prosecution were then going to bring it forward as the subject of a fresh trial, then he (Mr. McCallum) would withdraw his objection purely on the grounds of saving another trial. Evidence was then taken

The defendant's story was that he had been given the baskets to carry by another man on board the steamer to take to No. 49, Belcher Street.

His Worship held that the evidence for the defence was too conflicting and the defendant was therefore convicted.

A fine of $8,000 or one year was passed.

APPRENTICE WITHOUT WAGES

THEFT CHARGE SEQUEL

Charged with the larceny by servant of a quantity of jewellery valued at $318, the property of Tsoi King Man, from the Po Shing Goldsmith Shop, Queen's Road East, on July 2, Chan Yip Chai, 20 a shop apprentice, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday and was bound over

Det.-Sergt Dowman said that the complainant had employed the defendant as an apprentice for the past four years. There were no wages but food was given to him. On the morning of the 2nd, the complainant arose and found the defendant missing. He enquired and found that the defendant had take a quantity of jewellery from a drawer.

On July 3, the complainant went on board the Taiping junk and saw the defendant. He was arrested and the jewellry was found in his girdle.

Defendant was bound over and ordered to be sent back to the country, Mr. Schofield remarking that he could not understand a goldsmith employed anybody without paying them wages.

DRUGS SEIZED IN RAID

Leniency Plea Succeeds

WOMAN FINED

Several Revenue cases came up before Mr. H.B. Lee at the Central Court on Saturday. In all these cases, R.O. Grimmitt was the prosecting officer.

Two females, Tam Chum and Che Mui, and three men, Tam Wah, Hui Sing Cho and Li Tak Cho, were charged with the possession of 5,000 heroin pills and 42,000 novacaine pills at No.34, Yik Yam Street in June 25.

Mr. G.S. Ford for the defendants said that since the last hearing the prosecution had agreed to withdraw the charges against the second, third, fourth and fifth defendants. On behalf of the first defendant Mr. Ford pleaded guilty.

R.O. Grimmitt said that that was so as the first defendant was the only occupant of the floor at the time of the raid. The other people came in later and gave varied stories. Though the first defendant was the sole occupant at the time, and despite the fact that she was making the pills, Mr. Grimmitt said that he was convinced that she was only the catspaw of two other unscrupulous scoundrels, he was therefore not asking for a heavy sentence.

Mr. Ford, pleading for leniency, said that the defendant was supporting two minor sons, aged 7 and 9 years, also an aged mother-in-law.

His Worship passed a fine of $150 or two months.

ANOTHER CASE

Cheung Ah Lam, living at 29 Yik Yam Street was also charged under the drugs ordinance. R.O. Grimmitt said that the case had a connection with the previous one as the premises were raided at the same time. The floor was a heroin factory the room being locked, and though there was a mass of powder capable of being made into 69,000 heroin pills, Mr. Grimmitt was not pressing for a heavy sentence as this defendant was also an obvious tool of some others.

A fine of $150 or two months was passed.

HAWKING WITHOUT LICENCE

When Li Yau, 27, married woman appeared before Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged on remand with hawking fish in Popular Street without a licence, it was stated by Inspector W. R. Chester Woods that her claim that she was the sixth wife of a man, was true.

A Chinese detective accompanied the accused, said the prosecution officer to No. 77 Lai Chi Kok Road, where they met another woman who said she was a "kit fat" wife of a man accused was also married to. The "kit fat" wife claimed to be the fifth wife.

Accused had a child from the man, aged four years old. Her husband was unemployed and was not on the premises at the time of the detective's visit. It was quite apparent that he was not supporting the accused.

Taking into consideration the unique circumstances of the case, the Magistrate administered a caution. At the same time he warned Li Yau against a continuance of hawking without a licence. He said she was young enough to find other employment.

CASHBOX WITHOUT MONEY

Cheung Tin Sau, 21, unemployed, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday with the larceny of a cashbox containing a Japanese book "chop" and a small note book from No. 25, Luard Road, on June 25, the property of Toshiro Takahashi.

Det.-Sergt. Dowman said that the box was stolen on June 25 between 6.15 and 6.20 a.m. by someone who had just walked in and taken it. On July 1 a district watchman was informed that the defendant knew something about the box. Defendant was accordingly arrested and took the D.W. to a stairway in Fleming Road where the box was hidden. Defendant apparently tried to dispose of the box to a Portuguese boy who would have nothing to do with the matter and, reported it.

Defendant was bound over in $100.

TRAVELLING WITHOUT PAYING FARE

Japanese Youth Charged

"FAMILY TICKET" SYSTEM

Stated by the police to have caused a good deal of trouble, a Japanese, named Khoo Khay-soon, 19, an English-speaking student, came before Mr. E. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with travelling on Kowloon Motor bus No. 656 in Nathan Road near Haiphong Road without paying his fare.

For the prosecution, Sub-Inspector H. E. Rogers stated that at 12.55 p.m. on Friday the defendant boarded the bus and when asked by the conductor for his fare, nodded his head. The conductor accepted this. Later the Inspector came on the scene and on being asked to show his monthly ticket the defendant produced a ticket for February. "I don't know how he came by that ticket", S. E. Rogers remarked. "He is 19 years of age and school tickets are issued for 16 years downwards."

Defendant pleaded that he had left his old ticket at home but did not now how a February ticket came to be in his purse. In Court he produced a ticket for June which, according to the prosecuting officer, he did not produce at the Mongkok Police Station

A FAMILY TICKET

Sub-Inspector Rogers pointed out that the name given on the February ticket was Khoon Khay-soon while the June ticket bore the name L. Chan.

Defendant: That is so, sir. A group of us obtained a family ticket and in order to purchase it we had to have the same surname. One of those people is my cousin who is in La Salle College. I can bring him here to prove it. By getting a family ticket I saved $1.20 and I did it in order to save money

Sub-Inspector Rogers: Family tickets are issued only to brothers and sisters. They must be members of the family.

His Worship remarked that a wide interpretation could be placed on the word family.

His Worship adjourned the case to this morning and directed that enquiries be made as to whether the defendant had a monthly ticket during March, April and May.

Defendant was therefore remanded on bail of $10

WINDING UP ORDER MADE

BANK AND PAWNSHOP

Mr. G. S. Hugh Jones, representing the Siu Hing firm, obtained a petition for a winding up order against Wong Chun Fan, trading as the Hung Kat Bank and the Fook Hung Pawnshop, at the Bankruptcy Court on Saturday. His Honour, Sir Atholl MacGregor made the necessary receiving order.

The debtor was alleged to be trading as the sole proprieter of two separate firms and at the beginning of the year notice was received of the suspension of payment. The assets represented by pledges in the pawnshop were about $20,000 and the debts about $200,000.

After evidence given by Lo Yuk-chuen, a partner in the petitioner firm, that the debt due to them was $500, Tang Yuk-tong, accountant of the Hung Kat Bank, said that the liabilities totalled some $200,000 and the assets about $180,000. He said that in his opinion only $10,000 of the outstanding debts was recoverable, while the pledges in the pawnshop amounted to about $15,000.

The order was accordingly made.

His Lordship: You lent $100 and you have received back over $50 since the bankruptcy; on what grounds do you oppose?—Since I lent the money I have received no interest at all.

THE 'GLORIOUS FOURTH'

Americans Celebrate Independence Day

BIG GATHERING AT RECEPTION

The American Club in their new premises at the Hong Kong & Shanghai Bank building, was "en fete" on Saturday, the occasion being the celebrations held in connection with the "Glorious Fourth"—Independence Day.

Mr. Charles L. Hoover gave a reception, which was attended by the whole of the Consular Body with their ladies and the leading members of the community. Among those present were Mr. Campbell, of the United States Treasury, Mr. Kenneth Nobel, Acting Trade Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor and Lady MacGregor, Mr. Edwin Taylor, the Colonial Secretary, and all the senior officers of the United States warships now in port.

The guest of honour for the day, His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, who replied to the toast of the "King" was accompanied by Lady Caldecott, Captain W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C., Major General A. W. Bartholomew, and Mrs. Bartholomew, Brigadier-General Seth-Smith, Colonel H. C. Harrison, G.S.O.1., Commodore C. G. Sedgwick and Paym. Lieut-Commander Sweny.

The guests were received by Mrs. Hoover and the Consul General of the United States and an enjoyable two hours were spent by all present, before the gathering dispersed.

THE KING

An excellent band was in attendance and rendered "God Save the King" and "Hail, Columbia" as the respective toasts of "The King" and "The President" were honoured.

In proposing the Toast of His Majesty the King the Consul-General said:

"Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen:—One hundred and sixty years ago to-day, there was founded in the New World a nation whose Government was later given form in the Constitution of the United States. The authors of this document, under the leadership of the immortal Washington, declared that the objects they had in view were "to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure the domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare and to secure the Blessings of Liberty for themselves and their posterity.

"All these principles lie close to the heart of every loyal citizen of the United States, but many have contended that this entire preamble of the Constitution might have been comprehended in the words "To promote the general Welfare" for that is the basic principle underlying each of the other stated objects. In seeking the welfare of the people of the thirteen colonies, the founders of the nation faced the gigantic task not only of framing a system of Government which could be successfully administered in a vast expanse of sparsely settled territory, but also of creating the means to promote the development of the thousands of leagues of untrodden and unexplored wilderness which lay beyond the fringe of settlements along the Atlantic coast.

SIMPLE ADMINISTRATION

"The administering of the affairs of the new nation as a whole was simple and was amply provided for by the Government set up by the constitution, but the establishment of law and order in the isolated regions was an undertaking far beyond the powers of the central Government, and the Constitution wisely provided that, with exception of a few specifically mentioned and strictly limited functions delegated to the central Government, the direction of their own affairs was to be left wholly to the local Government republican in form, which the people of the various sections might create for themselves.

"The most remote of these unorganised territories were separated from the central Government by distances which could be covered only by long and arduous journeys, often months in duration, and of necessity there grew up in these distant communities a spirit of self-reliance and independence which had no touch of lawlessness but was rather the result of unfamiliarity with the guiding hand of authority. It is this personal and individual liberty, so far as it is consistent with the general welfare, which is counted among the blessings which the Constitution is pledged to maintain, and which is most sacred to every true American.

IMPLIED AUTHORITY

"As the central Government established by the Constitution possessed only implied authority to develop the resources of the country, nothing in this direction beyond the power 'to establish post offices and post roads' having been directly granted to it, the discovering and utilising of the wealth hidden in the wilderness was of necessity left to private initiative, and the story of the development and exploitation of the natural resources of the country is one of fascinatingly romantic interest, great adventures, acts of chivalry and, withal, the carrying of the banners of civilisation into the most distant wilds, and the creation of what was fondly hoped to be a lasting prosperity.

"What manner of men were the actors in this great drama? At the time when the settlements in the New World united to take their place among the nations of the earth, those upon whom was placed the great task of promoting the general welfare of the young republic were almost exclusively of British ancestry. They were poor in material wealth but rich in the heritage of high ideals and firmness of purpose which had been bequeathed to them by their ancestors.

"During the ensuing century a continuous stream of their blood relatives from Britain and the Continent flowed into the country and contributed not only to the building of the nation but also to the enrichment of Europe through the absorption of its surplus population as well as through the consumption of its goods. Like the early colonists, the individuals in this migration were farmers, artisans and scholars whose presence gave added strength and security to the nation.

EXTINCTION OF FREE LANDS

"But the close of the last century witnessed the extinction of the great area of free lands which had furnished homes for so many pioneers from Europe, and the later comers were forced to remain in the cities, where they formed colonies of various nationalities which were only in part truly assimilated as citizens and Americans. Although most of them learned the language of the country, they remained to a certain extent a people apart, contributing nothing but the labour of their hands to the progress of the country and sinking into helplessness in adversity. This condition has grown so grave that the country has been compelled to proclaim that the peopling of our land is complete and that there is no longer space in which newcomers can be welcomed to homes on the virgin prairies.

"Coevally with this close of the period of the migration of peoples to the New World, economic and related political problems of profound significance have reared their heads in our country. Is the simple system of local autonomy which was developed under the primitive conditions which existed in our country in its infancy still adequate to meet the complicated needs of present-day life? Are the limitations which were imposed upon the activities of our national Government at the beginning still necessary, practicable or advantageous at this time?

CHANGES NECESSARY

"The answer to these questions must be sought on the pages of history yet to be written. We are all aware that great changes have already occurred and that other changes and amplifications seem necessary. But it is a glorious privilege for all Americans to feel and believe that our country is guided by the same high ideals which inspired our forefathers when they laid the foundations of our nation, and that we know that the principles which they set down in the Preamble of the Constitution will not be abandoned. We look forward with sure confidence and with high hope that wise counsel, good judgment and lofty patriotism will prevail over the difficulties which beset our path.

"It is our hope and belief that a new day is dawning which will witness the restoration of material prosperity to ourselves and to all other peoples, and it is our most cherished wish that our earnest striving for international peace and amity may lead us to be known as 'good neighbours' by the whole world.

PEACE ON EARTH

"Your Excellency: On June 23, when the Consular Body waited upon Your Excellency to convey their felicitations upon the occasion of the birthday of His Majesty the King, Your Excellency made kindly reference to the hospitality which the authorities of this Colony have extended to all worthy persons of other nationalities who have come here to seek a home among your people, and I am proud to be the first since that occasion to have the opportunity to express, for myself and for the members of the American community here, our great appreciation of the wholesome welcome which is extended to us upon our arrival here and the unfailing courtesy and consideration with which our stay here is brightened.

"That since the foundation of the Colony innumerable numbers of my countrymen have resided here with pleasure and profit to themselves appears from the many records in the archives of my office, and I esteem it a privilege to be permitted on this, the anniversary of the birth of our nation, to voice the sentiments of respect and honour which the people of my native land, here and elsewhere, feel for the Sovereign of the country whose directing thought is 'Peace on earth and goodwill toward men.' Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen, I propose the health of His Majesty the King!"

THE PRESIDENT

After the toast of "The King" had been duly honoured His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, replied as follows:—

"I count it a very high honour indeed to be the spokesman of all our kind host's guests this morning and on their behalf to tender him and to our American friends in Hong Kong the compliments and felicitations proper to their national anniversary.

I am particulary grateful to Mr. Hoover for the kind and touching words in which he has just proposed the toast of the King. Our common inheritance of language, tradition and history will always form a bond between our respective nationals, a bond that is felt and appreciated whenever the one meets the other. And when such meetings take place, as they do between travellers and colonists in an environment unfamiliar to both, the differences between American and British shrink to a minimum, tantamount almost to non-existence. I remember indeed hearing a Malayan friend of mine remark that 'so many of his English friends were American!' And so if Mr. Hoover will permit me the liberty of saying so, I feel very much at home here this morning and very gratefully happy in the privilege which now falls to me of asking you to raise your glasses and drink to the health of the President of the United States of America."

"MAMAK" DONOR ENTERTAINS

Successful Function Held

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR HOCKEY

A highly successful dinner was held at the Peninsula Hotel on Saturday in celebration of the 6th anniversary of the Mamak Hockey Tournament. Hope was expressed by the various speakers during the evening, that the high standard attained in local hockey circles, would continue to the ultimate benefit of all who partook of this healthy outdoor pastime.

Among those present were: Mr. E. M. Hamilton (President of the Hong Kong Hockey Association), Lt.-Col. H. L. Murrow (President of the Mamak Hockey League), Mr. S. S. Mamak (donor of the Mamak Hockey Shield), Major M. H. A. Campbell, Mr. A. A. Dand, and Sub-Inspector L. Tyler (Secretary of the Mamak Hockey Tournament).

A SUCCESS

After deprecating the absence of Captain G. W. P. Kimm, of the Umpires' Hockey Board owing to indisposition, Mr. S. S. Mamak addressing the gathering said in part:

Last year we had two divisions and the season was a splendid success. I take this privilege of thanking the Executive Committee for their efforts and also to congratuate them on their success.

You will all agree with me when I say that in hockey we need very strict and unbiassed referees. To this important need Major Campbell has contributed a good deal: and as his regiment is due to return to India by the end of this year, we will miss his sound advice—but we wish to assure him that his efforts towards the improvement of hockey in the Colony will always be remembered and appreciated.

PRESIDENT THANKED

Mr. Hamilton, President of the Association, deserves all the appreciation and thanks for his great efforts to make this Tournament an important function of the season. In the history of this Tournament his name will be mentioned in golden words in time to come.

This year we miss other familiar faces—Major Foley, Major Bates, Lieut. Ravenhill, Lieut. Garthwaite, Lieut. Williams and Lieut. Robinson and by their departure the colony will certainly lose her best hockey supporters.

I think I will be doing a great injustice if I omit to mention the Rev. J. R. Higgs, who had always been a great supporter of our Tournament. He always helped us and allowed us the use of his hall for meetings whenever we needed it. We trust he will kindly continue giving us every help in the future. Our worthy President of the Association, Lieut.-Col. H. L. Murrow has been a sound guide during the season.

Gentlemen, I thank every one who has helped to make the Tournament a success, and wish that next season we will receive still better support. I also wish to thank the local newspapers who have done all within their power to lift the standard of hockey in the Colony to its present high stage.

Other speakers during the evening were: Mr. E. W. Hamilton, Mr. A. A. Dand, Sub-Inspector Tyler, and Major Campbell.

PEAK HOTEL TO GO

NEW FLATS TO BE BUILT?

Operating since 1922, the Peak Hotel is being closed down following an announcement on Saturday by the Hong Kong & Shanghai Hotels, Ltd. Guests in the hotel have been given notice to vacate their premises by August 31 at the very latest.

The reason for this move was stated to be that the building is to old and costs for repairs and renovation are prohibitive.

It is thought probable that modern apartment flats will be erected on the site, thought this is by no means certain at the moment.

TENDERS INVITED

ROOFING FOR QUEEN MARY HOSPITAL

Sealed tenders in triplicate, which should be clearly marked "Tender for Asphaltic roofing to two Blocks of Flats at Queen Mary Hospital," will be received at the Colonial Secretary's Office until noon of Monday, July 13. The work consists of the supplying and laying of asphaltic roofing material to two blocks of flats and six garages.

As security for the proper performance of the works under this contract, the successful tenderer will be required to deposit, in cash, a sum of $200 with the Colonial Treasury.

No work will be permitted on Sundays.

Form of tender, specification and further particulars may be obtained at the office of the Director of Public Works.

The Government does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER BEING SOUGHT

Rickshaw Puller Critically Injured On The Bund

SMASHED HEAD-LAMP IMPORTANT CLUE

Shanghai, June 29.

Shattered glass from a head-lamp forms an important clue in the investigation of a traffic accident which occurred on The Bund, near Soochow Road, at 3.25 yesterday morning, causing critical injury to a public rickshaw puller.

A motor-car, driven, it is alleged, by a foreigner, crashed into a rickshaw while northbound, knocking the puller down and causing concussion of the brain and other head injuries. The car continued across the Garden bridge after the accident, and the injured man subsequently was sent to St. Luke's Hospital in a Fire Brigade ambulance summoned by passers-by. His condition was extremely serious last night.

At about 4 a.m. a foreigner, who claims to be a French citizen, was taken to Louza Police Station and questioned about the condition of his car, which was found parked in Yingpo Road. One of the head-lamps had been damaged, the glass being broken, but the driver disclaimed all knowledge of how the damage had been caused, saying he thought another car had run into his while it was parked. He was handed over to the French Police.—(N.C.D.N.)

DRUGS WHICH WERE NOT PROVED

Arrested and charged with the possession of pills which were afterwards discovered to be not heroin, Ng Tai, a married woman, and Wu King, a widow, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday. The charged was the possession of 1,000 heroin pills at No. 77, Belcher Street, on June 26.

On Saturday Det.-Sergt. Riddell asked to withdraw the charge as the pills had been found to be other than heroin.

Mr. Hin Shing Lo for the first defendant, asked that the defendants be discharged without a stain on their characters. His Worship accordingly discharged the defendants without stains on their characters.

PRISON GUARDS FIRE SHOTS TO QUELL OUTBREAK

Russian. Chinese Prisoners Injured In Fight

ALLEGED PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT

Shanghai, June 30.

Trouble broke out among the prisoners of the Second Special District Prison, at the corner of Route Stanislas Chevalier and Rue Massenet, yesterday morning and about half a dozen Chinese and four Russians needed medical attention when the fight had been stopped by the prison guards. On Sunday, it is learned, the Chinese prisoners began to raise objections to their treatment as compared with that accorded to the Russians, who were, they alleged, getting better treatment from the prison authorities, better food, were not called upon to do any "dirty work," and had more opportunities for exercise.

This culminated in a fight in the prison yard yesterday morning, although the brawl actually started when a Russian prisoner, who had been reprimanded when, it is stated, his damaging of certain prison property was reported by a Chinese prisoner, tried to revenge himself. The Russian prisoners, who are not handcuffed if their conduct has been good, were having their daily morning exercise at the time.

When the fight at its height, the prison guards, at the command of their officer, fired two blank shots into the air, and this had a salutary effect, the trouble subsiding shortly afterwards. Fourteen Chinese and seven Russian prisoners, it is reported, were placed under strict surveillance for the part they played in the affair, while the French Police are conducting an investigation.—(N.C.D.N.)

"JUST ONE MORE"

One day when Hercules was herding the oxen of Geryon he carelessly slumbered and, while he slept, Cacus—one of the earliest bold, bad rustlers on record—stole some of them. To make pursuit difficult, the robber dragged them by their tails to his cavernous hideout so that their hoof tracks would trick Hercules into thinking they had gone in the opposite direction.

Whisky distillers and distributors must be turning to the classics in search of inspiration. By high pressure nationwide advertising through press, radio, movies, billboards and direct mail solicitation (the entire cost, of course, paid by John Consumer), they boosted the consumption of hard liquor in America, in 1935, $214,169,527 higher than in 1934. Now they are counseling "Moderation," with an M majuscule!

Believe it or not, having poured more than $2,579,000,000 spirituous liquors and beer down the American throat during 1935, the "trade" is kindly but firmly counseling drinkers to say "No"—when it's one drink too many. Frankly admitting the potency of their products, some of its members are spending real money—again, naturally, the consumers'—urging the latter to think of the morning after.

It took Hercules less than no time at all to see through the not very bright strategem to hoodwink him. And to-day no clear-thinking persons are being deceived by wet tracks apparently leading to moderation, in belated efforts to camouflage the advertising stampede for more widespread and more constant consumption of alcoholic drink.

And cause for their encouragement also exists, happily. That drinking simply does not pay is being everywhere increasingly confirmed. Dr. V. G. Urse, of the Cook County Psychopathic Hospital, Chicago, calls alcohol an "unseen killer." Insurance companies are more and more rejecting drink addicts. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, Marine, and former Director of Public Safety in Philadelphia, told an audience recently that before he took the job he used to take a drink. "Before I got through I was a prohibitionist," he declared. "If a man has had one drink he is unfit to drive. He is a potential murderer."

Some American newspapers are recognizing a civic responsibility in this respect and refuse to open their advertising columns to alcoholic liquor, just as they shut out advertisements of nostrums. Millions of persons, envisaging a better tomorrow, a social order richer and more beautiful, are protesting against the cynical campaign of the liquor interests to make intoxicating drink alluring to the youth of both sexes.

They known that the traffic has one long history of lawlessness, that no ideals ever came out of a saloon or a whisky bottle; that there can be no real social security, in the larger sense, so long as a nation tolerates, almost uncontrolled, a commerce in a narcotic so potentially harmful that its very makers stick a sign on it: "Say 'No' when it's one drink too many."

WANG CHUNG HUI IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, July 3.

Dr. Wang Chung-hui, former judge of the International Court at the Hague, is expected in Shanghai from Nanking to-day.

It is expected he will remain in Shanghai for three or four days and meet Mr. Tang Shao-yi, a member of the South-west Political Council, who left for the north recently after refusing to participate in the administration of the South-west. It is expected they will discuss the South-west political situation.

The Chinese report that Dr. Wang was going to Canton on July 7 is denied.—Reuter.

BATHING BEACH TRAGEDY

Chinese Drowned At North Point

Lai Siu-keung, aged 18, a fitter of the Hong Kong Telephone Company, was drowned at the Chinese Athletic bathing beach last night about 8.30. The deceased lived at No. 472, Lockhart Road, ground floor.

The deceased, who was a swimmer with about one month's experience, went to the bathing beach with his brother, Lai Kwok-keung. They changed and the deceased started to swim from the end of the steps to the raft, a venturesome swim for one of such little swimming ability. When within five or six feet from the raft, the deceased was seen to sink beneath the water.

The alarm was raised and though numerous people dived into the water to give assistance, they were unsuccessful as the swimmer did not rise again.

The body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

ROBINSON ROAD MURDER

Attack By Unknown Gunman

Investigations in the Robinson Road murder of Saturday night are proceeding. Mr. Cheung Tin-tau, was shot at and fatally wounded by an unknown gunman while returning to his house at No. 51, Robinson Road.

Mr. Cheung was ascending the short pathway leading to his house at about 6.30 p.m. when a Chinese fired three shots, two of which lodged in Mr. Cheung's back and the other in the arm. The assailant escaped.

Mr. Cheung was rushed to the hospital but died soon after admission. Mr. Cheung is believed to be an ex-Canton official, and for this reason it is also believed that the outrage might have political motives.

Owing to the hot weather, very few social functions are being held, in consequence of which our "gossip" columns are being held over for the time being.

CONSTABLE STRUCK BY CAR

Castle Peak Road Accident

Mr. N. E. Johnson, Installation manager of the Standard Oil Company Installation at Laichikok, was involved in a motor accident on Saturday night. He was driving his car along the Castle Peak Road and when near Tsin Wan, about the 10 mile-stone, he came upon three constables from the Tsin Wan Police station, who were returning from patrol. The time was 9.15 p.m.

The three men were walking on the side of the road, P.C.B. 119 being nearer the centre of the road. The car came from behind and struck P.C.B. 119 and knocked him down. Injuries were sustained to the back of the head and the left shoulder.

The constable was taken to the Kowloon Hospital with suspected internal injuries. He was later transferred to the Government Civil Hospital.

COLOUR FILM OF THE QUEEN MARY

New York Welcome Screened In Glasgow

London, June 17.

Another example of the tremendous developments which have been made recently in colour films was demonstrated in Glasgow yesterday by Kodak, Ltd., who screened a short film of the Queen Mary arriving at New York.

The new process—"Kodachrome"—has eliminated completely the hazy element which has clouded so many films of the sea in colour, and another important advance is the comparative accuracy of the skin-tints. The "smoked salmon" effect of the older processes has been successfully overcome.

The fleet of tugs, the welcoming crowds, and occasional flashes of busy streets at the docks are cleverly filmed in the special picture, and the great liner herself floats on the screen with a sharp reality that rivals "the real thing."

Kodachrome—a system well suited to the hand cine-camera—produces a direct, grainless, subtractive colour system, and the pure-dye images can be examined at close quarters without mosaic or "fringing" being visible.

CUSTOMS LOSE $5,000,000 BY SMUGGLING

DIRECT METHODS EMPLOYED

Amoy.—Amoy's loss of Customs revenue incurred from smuggling during the period Janury, 1934, to May, 1935, amounted to the staggering figure of $5,000,000, according to Customs authorities.

Investigation reveals that the illicit trade in south Fukien is usually undertaken by smuggling vessels and by smuggling gangs.

There are many secret contraband-running organs which own steamboats and junks to carry on the illicit traffic. These vessels directly ship the smuggled goods from Formosa to Amoy, the principal kinds of which are sugar, gasoline, sea products, cement and matches.

Owing to drastic preventive measures recently adopted by the Customs authorities vessels, which, when seized, are either—confiscated or destroyed—the smuggling organs are using fishing boats instead of steamboats and junks in order to avoid the attention of the Customs officers and minimize their losses upon discovery.

CONTRABANDS AS LUGGAGE

The contrabandists, who pose as passengers, carry large quantities of contraband goods as personal luggage. Prior to last October, each steam vessel arriving at Amoy from Formosa, carried 400 or 500 smugglers styling themselves as passengers.

As a result of repeated negotiations between Chinese and Japanese authorities last October, a ruling was instituted whereby each steam vessel is disallowed to carry more than 300 passengers. This, however, can hardly check the activities of the smuggling gangs.

Frequent skirmishes occur between Customs officers and smugglers as they come by groups.

Under present circumstances if a vessel should carrying 300 smugglers, each bringing with him $200 worth of contraband, the loss incurred in the Customs revenue would be approximately $20,000 (estimated at the average Customs rate of one-third of the value of the articles). If an average of eight vessels should make port monthly, the loss of Customs revenue would be approximately $160,000 monthly or $2,000,000 yearly.—

NORTH CHINA SMUGGLING

Japanese Journal's Opinions

Tokyo, July 4.

The "Jiji Shimbun" announces that Foreign Office circles are beginning to favour the restoration of the Sino-Japanese tariff agreement which expired in 1933 as a possible means of ending the smuggling in North China.

The paper argues that the smuggling in North China will never cease unless the Nanking Government either recognises the independence of the North China tariff or abolishes its own high tariff, negotiating the Sino-Japanese tariff rates, which make it easy for Japan to export to China those Japanese articles which are most popular with the Chinese masses.—

MELROSE KILLED

Melbourne, July 5.

The young England-Australia airman, James Melrose, crashed in his plane and was killed.—Reuter.

[Melrose participated in the Melbourne Centenary air race, and on the occasion of the disappearance of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith in the Bay of Bengal, he was engaged in the search and crashed somewhere near Siam, but he was able to continue his solo flight to Australia.]

DRASTIC MEASURES IN NORTH

THE THREE HUNDRED DELEGATES

SHANGHAI MAYOR'S STATEMENT

Shanghai, July 4.

Whenever necessary, drastic measures will be taken to suppress activities calculated to disturb peace and order, said Mayor Wu Teh-chen when interviewed concerning the object of the three hundred delegates from the South.

The Mayor added that these delegates are seeking the support of reactionary elements in Shanghai for the purpose of creating disturbances. He was confident that the people in Shanghai would see through their ulterior motive.—Reuter.

JAPANESE WORRIED

Canton, July 4.

Contrary to the earlier Tokyo report, "Reuter" learns on good authority that the Japanese Consul in Canton has not yet filed the third protest with regard to the anti-Japanese agitation in the Southwest, but he is contemplating doing so.

As anti-Japanese sentiment is growing as a result of the present movement, the Japanese authorities now appear to be distinctly worried, declaring they must now take a serious view of the situation and also watch closely the developments.

It is stated in Japanese circles that the present movement besides arousing anti-Japanese feeling is also reviving feeling for a boycott.

GIGANTIC CAMPAIGN

Meanwhile public bodies in Kwangtung are organising a gigantic anti-Japanese campaign and 300 delegates representing commercial, educational, industrial and agricultural bodies are leaving Canton to-day in two separate batches for Hong Kong en route to Nanking aboard the President Jefferson to petition to C.E.C. session to launch an immediate expedition against Japanese aggression. The delegates who include leading merchants and prominent agitators were given a rousing send-off.—Reuter.

WIDESPREAD INDIGNATION

Canton, July 4.

There is widespread indignation here over the decision of the authorities in Shanghai to prevent the Kwangtung delegates landing in Shanghai. Dissatisfaction is also expressed over the reported refusal of the Robert Dollar Company to allow the delegates to travel on their steamer. It is understood that Dr. Kan Chieh-hou is proceeding to Hong Kong to protest to the Company.

Meanwhile it is authoritatively stated that the delegates are determined to proceed to the North in any case, declaring that their motive is entirely patriotic. If they be refused passage on a Dollar steamer they will probably arrange to travel on some other ship.

It is pointed out that the 300 delegates include many leading merchants and prominent educators who can hardly be described as agitators.—Reuter.

STUDENT DELEGATES

Canton, July 4.

Several hundreds students, including some girls are forming a third batch of anti-Japanese delegates expected to go to Nanking in the next few days.

Prior to the departure of the delegates to-day they issued a manifesto declaring that the object of the tour was two-fold; firstly, urging the Central Government to recall the troops from Hunan to fight the invaders in the North; secondly, urging the Central Government to launch an immediate expedition against Japan.

Each delegate was given $150 for travelling expenses.—Reuter.

QUIET ON ALL FRONTS

Peaceful Settlement Prospects Remote

Canton, July 4.

Quiet continues to prevail on all fronts, but there are no definite prospects yet of a peaceful settlement.

It appears that the Southwest authorities are not quite ready to agree to the "Ta Kung Pao's" suggestion of a direct interview between Generals Chiang Kai-shek, Chen Chi-tang, Li Chung-jen and Pei Chung-hsi. The official Canton "Min Kuo Jih Pao" commenting on the "Ta Kung Pao's" proposals says that such a conference is unnecessary, contending that the crux of the present dispute is the Central Government's hesitancy to resist Japanese aggression immediately. The paper adds that if Nanking accepts the Southwest anti-Japanese proposals there would not be any more dispute.

With the approach of the C.E.C. session, the situation is being watched with the keenest interest and it is generally hoped that a basis will be found for agreement on domestic and foreign issues, particularly the question of resistance against Japan.—

DANZIG FRICTION AIRED IN GENEVA

Alleged Discourtesy By German Cruiser

DR. GREISER ADDRESSES COUNCIL

Violent Attack On High Commissioner

VICTIMS SLAUGHTERED

Geneva, July 4.

The trouble which has been working up for some time in Danzig between the Nazis and the High Commissioner, Mr. Sean Lester, and culminated in the visiting German cruiser Leipzig failing to observe the customary courtesy towards Mr. Lester engaged the attention of the League Council this afternoon.

Dr. Greiser, Nazi head of the Danzig Government, who came by air with all haste on learning of Mr. Lester's protest, displayed great annoyance in reaching the meeting at finding the police guard unaware of his identity. They barred his entry to the council chamber as he did not ppossess the necessary pass.

The guard had been trebled in consequence of the Italian demonstration and the Czechoslovak photographer's suicide.

Dr. Greiser, addressing the Council complained that Mr. Lester's protest had been prematurely published in Danzig. He declared that he spoke for 400,000 Germans and proceeded to violently attack Mr. Lester whom he accused of persistently supporting the minority against the majority.

"Even during the war I have never seen corpses so hacked as those victims slaughtered by persons supported by Mr. Lester," he said.

Dr. Greiser stated that the alternative way was either to replace Mr. Lester or abolish the post altogether and empower the President of the Senate to report direct to the League.

DEFIANT GESTURE

Dr. Greiser concluded by throwing his papers on the table defiantly amid loud boos from the galleries, while he commented, "Now I feel better."

The Council's resolution requests Poland to deal with the matter of friction between the Nazis and Mr. Lester diplomatically on its behalf in view of the fact that Poland has undertaken to conduct Danzig's foreign relations in accordance with the statute of the Free City. Poland is to report to the next ordinary session.

COUNCIL RESOLUTION

(Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

Geneva, July 4.

The Danzig question came up for discussion on Saturday soon after the beginning of the public session of the League Council when Mr. Eden, in his capacity as rapporteur for Danzig, submitted the following resolution:

"The Council has received a report dated June 30 from the League High Commisioner concerning an incident which occurred on the occasion of the recent visit to Danzig of the German cruiser Leipzig, and has come to the conclusion that this incident has an international character.

"In consideration of the fact that according to the statute of the Free City of Danzig, Poland has undertaken the obligation and conduct of Danzig's foreign affairs, the Council resolves to request the Polish government to investigate this question in the name of the Council through diplomatic channels and to submit to the Council at the next ordinary session a report on the results and measures which it may have thought necessary to take."

DR. GREISER SPEAKS

On the conclusion of brief introductory remarks by Mr. Eden and Colonel Beck, the President of the Danzig Senate, Dr. Greiser, rose to speak. After expressing astonishment at being summoned to Geneva and still greater astonishment at the contents of the High Commissioner's report, Dr. Greiser stated, however, that he fully agreed with the High Commissioner in thinking that the omission of a courtesy visit by the commander of a German warship ought to be mentioned in the report. But to bring this in connection with the Danzig Senate or its President seemed to him to be absolutely wrong.

As head of the Danzig government, he must ask the League members to direct their astonishment at this incident to an address which would probably be found in Berlin.

"TACTLESS BEHAVIOUR"

As a National Socialist and a German, he would like to state his frank opinion that after "the tactless behaviour of the High Commissioner on the occasion of the last visit of a German warship in the previous year" there was no cause for astonishment at the commander of the cruiser Leipzig not paying a visit this time. The fact that the Danzig Government had now been called for the second time within a year to give an account of itself before the world imposed on him the obligation to deal exhaustively once and for all with the Danzig question as a whole.

DANZIG'S SEPARATION

He appeared there not as a servant of dead letters and theoretical papagraphs but as a regent of 400,000 Germans who did not want to chain their destiny for all eternity to the League of Nations but who were bound by blood and race to the German nation. His impression was that Danzig had not been separated from the mother country for the reasons the world had been told. Why then, he asked, was this separation carried out? The reason was that the Polish nation was to have free access to the sea and this claim, the speaker wished to plainly emphasise, was entirely justified.

But if it had only been a matter of access to the sea it would not have been necessary to separate Danzig from Germany and he would almost like to assume that this was done in order to establish a perpetual centre of unrest in Eastern Europe and a source of friction between Germany and Poland. Even in the League of Nations circles, Danzig was termed "the powder barrel of Europe" and it was only thanks to two great European personalities, Pilsudski and Hitler, that this barrel has not exploded.

ATTACK ON LESTER

The speaker then made an attack on the High Commissioner, Mr. Lester, whom he accused of disregarding the principles of true democracy and giving "a destructively acting minority the possibility of shamelessly terrorising the constitutionall elected majority."

The Government's best solution to the trouble in Danzig will be to appoint a new High Commissioner who would refrain from all concern with the Free City's internal politics, or take the opportunity forthcoming in the reforms of the League of Nations to dispense with the appointment of any Commissioner in Danzig at all.

"If here and there in the world," concluded Dr. Greiser, "the opinion has been expressed that the prestige of the League of Nations has suffered, then I believe that I have shown you the way by which you can make a great contribution to the restoration of your prestige in the world. Such a decision would be an historical act of the very greatest significance."—Transocean News Service.

EDEN'S EXPLANATION

Geneva, July 4.

After Dr. Greiser's speech had been translated into French and English, the President of the Council, Mr. Eden, announced that the session must be adjourned in view of the fact that the bureau assembly would be meeting in a few moments in order to vote on a resolution for the lifting of sanctions.

Mr. Eden then remarked that the President of the Danzig Senate had been invited out of courtesy to attend the Council's session, and not to bring up the Danzig problem. The League of Nations was not responsible for the statute of the Free City, but had merely been entrusted with the task of supervising the statute in the interests of Danzig.

POLAND'S VIEWS

The Polish Foreign Minister, Colonel Beck, stated that in accordance with the obligations accepted by his country he was prepared to undertake the investigation of the question embodied in the resolution and report to the Council on the results. The incident mentioned in the resolution had nothing to do with the Danzig problem as a whole or with Danzig's internal questions. The resolution submitted by the rapporteur for Danzig, Mr. Eden, aimed at reaching a practical solution and it was therefore unjust to accuse the rapporteur and the Council of being prejudiced.

The session was then adjourned, it being announced that it would be resumed later in the evening in order to continue the debate on High Commissioner Lester's report and give him an opportunity to reply to Dr. Greiser's speech.—Transocean News Service.

"LESTER MUST GO"

Geneva, July 4.

The League of Nations will today turn aside from the Abyssinian problem to face the troubled and delicate situation arising from the Nazi activities in Danzig. The Council is meeting this afternoon to deal with the position following the report of the High Commissioner, Mr. Sean Lester, on the recent developments, which began when the captain of the visiting German warship Leipzig at the last moment declined to pay the customary courtesy visit to the High Commissioner.

The fears of an impending Nazi coup have been growing, but it is not believed that the Reich is at present ready for such a step. Dr. Greiser has left Berlin for Geneva. He will attend the tenth anniversary celebrations at Weimar of the Nazi Party Convention, at which Herr Hitler will be present. Herr Forster, the leader of the Danzig Nazis, is also reported to have been summoned to Germany to confer with Herr Hitler.

Unless Dr. Greiser's attitude complicates the situation it is expected that the Council will request Poland to use her good offices in smoothing out the situation. In the meantime the Nazi desire to get rid of Mr. Lester is voiced in the Berlin Nazi paper "Voelkischer Beobachter." Writing on the theme "Lester Must Go," it declares that since Danzig and Poland are settling their own problems the need for a High Commissioner has disappeared.—Reuter.

COMMITTEE DECISION

Geneva, July 4.

The council, in private session decided to establish a committee consisting of British, French and Portuguese representatives to keep in touch with the situation in Danzig instead of the rapporteur, Mr. Eden.—Reuter.

AMAZING SCENE AT MEETING

Nazi Salute By Dr. Greiser

UPROAR IN PRESS GALLERY

Geneva, July 4.

The Assembly meeting to discuss the Danzig situation closed yesterday with an amazing scene.

After the passage of the resolution, Dr. Greiser gave the Nazi salute to Mr. Eden, M. Delbos and Colonel Beck. This caused hilarity among the public, especially in the ranks of the pressmen, and as Dr. Greiser passed to the press gallery outward he put his fingers in his noise in an offensive gesture which caused uproar among the journalists and a storm of protests.

Mr. Eden, when he was was asked what had happened, said that he did not see the incident, but declared that the best way to treat such conduct was to ignore it completely.

The Danzig delegation later left the building escorted by police amid a storm of booing.

Earlier in the proceedings Mr. Eden expressed complete confidence in Mr. Lester and regretted the tone of Dr. Greiser's speech. He declared that although the League was not responsible for the regime in Danzig, nevertheless it was entitled to expect courtesy in its relations with all concerned.

TAUNT AT LEAGUE

After the resolution had been passed, Dr. Greiser said that he did not expect any other reply in view of the League's dilatory methods and said at a later stage of the proceedings that the whole of the German people would look to the League Council for a decision which would liberate the President of the Senate in Danzig from the necessity of ever appearing in Geneva again.

Mr. Eden quietly replied that the Council was dealing only with its agenda.

Dr. Greiser was then prepared to leave the hall and the incidents described above occurred prior to his departure.—Reuter.

PEIPING DEATH INQUIRY

British Soldiers Acquitted

JAPANESE NOT SATISFIED

Peiping, July 4.

Cook, one of the two British soldiers acquitted of the charge of the murder of a Japanese subject named Sasaki in a brawl, but against whom a prima facie case of assault of one Onishi was made out, in the opinion of the magistrate, has been acquitted of the assault charge.

The magistrate said that the accused was on trial because he had been identified as having assaulted Onishi, but the evidence was quite clear. He believed that Onishi was in the room at the bar when assaulted, but he was satisfied that Cook and Hunt did not do it. He believed their alibi and dismissed the charge.

The Japanese Residents' Association is organising an indignation meeting to protest against the decision.

The Japanese community is most dissatisfied with the verdicts in the Sasaki case, and tempers are reported to be rising. The Japanese Residents' Association is meeting on Monday to decide on its attitude. It is forecast that it will adopt a resolution asking the British Embassy for a "sincere solution."—Reuter.

TENNIS

THE M.C.C. PRIZES

London, June 16.

The last of the second round matches in the competition for the M.C.C. prizes was played yesterday at Lord's, and proved to be, both in excellence of play on both sides and the closeness of the struggle between them, the best so far seen in the series. After two hours' play W. M. Ross Skinner beat M. H. Hellbut by 3 sets to 2 (3—6, 6—3, 6—2, 2—6, 6—5), after the loser had once been within a point of the match.

Chief credit must go to the loser, who would in a handicap be set to receive decided odds from the winner, but yesterday played above the best form he has ever before shown in the tennis court. The feature of the match was his service, a heavily cut side wall service, for which he found a splendid length throughout the match. He cut the ball down heavily in the nets and made far fewer mistakes than usual, except on the volley, where at times he failed. Ross Skinner relied almost entirely on an American service with which at times he made a lot of nicks, but when it did not nick it generally gave his opponent an easy first stroke, and he served too many double faults with it. Generally speaking he was the safer in return, especially on the volley, and though not cutting the ball heavily he kept a splendid length and controlled it delightfully, never being tempted to "bang about," but playing a nicely restrained game.

A DIFFICULT SERVICE

Hellbut started the match characteristically with a service which Ross Skinner was quite unable to return, and the number of easy first strokes the latter player had in the first set was uncommonly small. Both players found their best form at once and there was some delightful tennis with short chases and well-cut strokes in the first five games. These all went to deuce and vantage and Hellbut won them all, making very few mistakes. It was not till he led at 5—1 that his return began to weaken, but he then began to weaken before Ross Skinner's persistent return, and the latter won the next two games with the loss of only one stroke to reach 3—5. In the ninth game at 30 all Hellbut found the "grille" and crossing over to attack chase 4, won it on the floor with a good stroke off a half-nick service, to secure the first set.

In the second set Ross Skinner's service improved in length and his return became surer than ever. He was very accurate also with his shots to "grille and dedans," finding each hazard three times in four games. Hellbut hung on to him well up to 3—5, but made three bad mistakes in the next game and the match was level at one set all.

When Ross Skinner took the third set also, rather more easily, one almost expected Hellbut to crumple up against his opponent's relentless return, but instead of this he played better than ever in the fourth set, where it was Ross Skinner who made the greater number of errors. When Hellbut had reached 4—1 in this set his opponent took matters rather easily, let the set go, and reserved himself for the fifth. At first his tactics appeared justified, for he won three games in succession, the second and third with nick services, but Hellbut rallied well. The latter won the fourth game with a fine stroke which beat chase one and two on the floor, and the fifth after Ross Skinner had led in it at 40—15. A love game took Ross Skinner to 4—2, but Hellbut drew level at 4 all and won the ninth game rather luckily with a net cord shot when defending chase last gallery.

Ross Skinner won the next game to 30 and the match depended on the 11th game. Hellbut won the first rest with a boasted force, Ross Skinner the second with a drop service which he employed for the first time in the match. Fifteen all and 30 all were called and Hellbut, winning the next rest, was "du tout," but then had a bit of bad luck, for a poor shot from Ross Skinner broke back unreturnable from the "grille" penthouse. Finally Ross Skinner, with a shot which found the "grille," won a great match.

TIGHT FIELDING THEIR ASSET

TREBLE WIN REGISTERED

Following upon their success against the Overseas Chinese, the Puiching Academy men routed the Hong Kong Volunteers' nine on Saturday at baseball, by nine runs to two in an interesting encounter.

T. Kim was again the star of the visiting team and delighted with his accurate throwing to first base. Where the Canton men excelled was in their superior knowledge to steal bases and when once on first base were a continual source of worry to the harassed Volunteer fielders.

E. Wong though he only struck out three men, kept the Volunteers from scoring when supported by accurate fielding from his men.

Costa was missed by the losers. N. Leonard and Hassan, both brought off fine catches while in the outfield.

Scores by innings:—

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7
Pui-Ching	0	1	1	0	3	2	2	= 9 runs
	2	0	0	0	2	1	1	= 6 hits
Volunteers	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	= 2 runs
	0	1	0	0	2	0	1	= 4 hits

GAME IN CANTON

On Tuesday last the Pui-Ching beat the U.S.S. Mindanao at Canton by 9 runs to 2 in their return League Baseball encounter.

PUI CHING WIN AGAIN

Sunday's Baseball Result

In the local Baseball League yesterday Pui Ching added a further victory to their already remarkable record when they beat the Eastern at Causeway Bay by the score of 11 runs to four.

The Eastern batted first and scored a single to which Pui Ching replied by bring four men home across the plate. There were too many fielding errors on the part of the Eastern boys to raise any feeling of confidence in their supporters. Pui Ching had the game in their pockets, as it were, right from the start. They batted well and fielded well.

HELEN JACOBS WINS TENNIS TITLE

Five Times Finalist At Wimbledon

BRITISH WOMEN SUCCESSES

London, July 4.

After contesting in the final of the Wimbledon tennis championship five times, Miss Helen Jacobs of America at last won the title by beating the German-Dane player, Mrs. Sperling.

It was touch and go for the American player throughout. Mrs. Sperling was steady as a rock and retrieved everything, but Miss Jacobs' fierce chopping and beautiful backhand drives just turned the scale.

very tight following all-night queues in which pickpockets reaped a rich harvest pilfering the sleeping enthusiasts.

CHOSEN FOR DAVIS CUP

The five-set victory of Hughes and Tuckey over their fellow Britishers Hare and Wilde in the men's doubles final has resulted in these players being selected again for the British Davis Cup team in the challenge round on July 25, 27 and 28. The other members of the team officially announced to-day are Fred Perry and Bunny Austin.

Although there was little in the men's doubles final, Hughes and Tuckey winning 6-4, 3-6, 7-9, 6-1, 6-4, the Davis Cup pair showed great coolness and steadiness.

DEFEAT AVENGED

Miss Freda James and Miss Kathleen Stammers easily retained the women's doubles title, beating the Americans, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey-Fabyan and Miss Helen Jacobs. The latter was tired after playing in the singles, while Mrs. Fabyan was in very poor form. The British pair volleyed and lobbed beautifully. The British girls have thus avenged their defeat in the Wightman Cup match which gave that contest to America.—Reuter.

WOMEN'S TITLE

London, July 4.

As was fully expected, Helen Jacobs beat Mrs. Sperling of Germany, finalist in 1931, by 6-2, 4-6, 7-5 to win her first Wimbledon singles title after five appearances in the Final, three of which were in succession. America has thus won this event eight times in the last 10 years.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Pat Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey, the British Davis Cup pair who beat Allison and Van Ryn in the Semi-Final Round, won the Men's Doubles Championship when they beat C. E. Hare and F. H. D. Wilde, a youthful British combination, by 6-4, 3-6, 7-9, 6-1, 6-4. The losers eliminated Borotra and Brugnon in the Semi-Final Round.

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

Britain scored her third triumph in four events when Miss Kay Stammers and Miss Freda James, the holders, beat Miss Helen Jacobs and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey-Fabyan, the American Doubles champions, 6-2, 6-1 to avenge their defeat in three sets in the deciding match of the recent Wightman Cup series. Last year the British pair beat Mme. Mathieu and Mrs. Sperling 6-1, 6-4 in the Final.

In the Semi-Final of the Mixed Doubles Fred Perry and Dorothy Round, the holders, beat F. H. D. Wilde and Miss Whitmarsh, also of Great Britain, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

MIXED DOUBLES

In the Final Perry and Miss Round beat Donald Budge and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey-Fabyan of America 7-9, 7-5, 6-4.

Last year Perry and Miss Round beat Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hopman of Australia 7-5, 4-6, 6-2 in the Final.—Reuter.

PATIENT SPECTATORS

London, July 4.

Many hundreds of enthusiasts spent the night outside the grounds playing bridge and indulging in community singing.

PERRY—VON CRAMM FIGHT

London, July 3.

The fates conspired to spoil what promised to be one of the greatest of Wimbledon finals to-day and enabled Fred Perry to become the first Englishman to win the singles title three years in succession since H. L. Doherty won it from 1902 to 1906 inclusive.

Perry beat Von Cramm in 40 minutes, the quickiest final ever.

Von Cramm was seized with cramp in the right leg shortly before the start of the match and then he strained a muscle in his right thigh during his first service in the second game of the match.

Thereafter the German ace limped about the court helplessly either netting or over-driving his shots and making Perry's task very easy.

Von Cramm was clearly in great pain but he pluckily continued although frequently and hopelessly beaten and unable to reach shots.

It was thus the battle developed after deuce had been called ten times in the first game.

After the match Perry said he had never played better in his life.—Reuter.

PEIPING INQUIRY AGAIN DELAYED

Doctor Testifies On Wound

Peiping, June 29.

The British consular court which is inquiring into the charges brought by the Japanese authorities against two British privates attached to the Legation Guard, was subjected to further delays this morning as a result of the late arrival of one Japanese witness and the failure of another to appear.

The accused are Privates Herbert Cooke and Ralph Hunt, and they are charged with the manslaughter of a Japanese military officer, Kisaku Sasaki, and causing bodily harm to another Japanese subject on Tuesday, May 26.

After the court had waited 50 minutes, one witness, a Korean cook in a bar in the area involved, finally turned up and gave his evidence.

When that was concluded the court was informed that another witness was expected to arrive in five minutes. The consul, Mr. N. Fitzmaurice, waited vainly for half an hour and then decided to adjourn for lunch.

In his evidence the Korean witness said that, on the night of May 26, two British soldiers in khaki uniforms and wearing whit belts and armlets, entered the bar where he worked.

About seven Korean guests were present, one of whom was standing in the courtyard.

Both soldiers struck this man, and he fell down, his face bleeding. A Chinese boy who intervened was also struck.

This incident happened about midnight, and the soldiers went away almost immediately afterwards.

Cross-examined, witness said he knew the date on which the incident occurred was May 26, but he did not know the day of the week. He attended an identification parade at the British Embassy later, but was unable to identify either soldier.

He told the court he would not be able to recognize the men again. There was no provocation, he added, for the assault.

NATURE OF WOUND

Dr. Imamura, head of the Kawata Hospital in Peiping, testified that Sasaki was brought to his hospital at 12.30 at night, but he could not remember the day or the date. He did not know Sasaki, and was told it was him.

The man was dead with a bruise over his right eye such as might be formed by a blunt instrument with a soft surface, possibly "an American sack"—a short club with lead inside, covered with leather. A padded knuckleduster might produce the same effect, but it could not be done with a naked fist.

The body lay in the hospital till the following day. Witness at first said he was present at the post-mortem, but later declared he never saw the body again after it left the hospital.

Cross-examined—Sasaki was in a uniform like a Japanese officer's. Asked if it were possible for a bone to be broken like Sasaki's by a fall, witness said the exterior signs were incompatible with a fall. Asked if a hard blow would not break the front bone of the frontal sinus, witness said it would have to be a very hard blow.

Sasaki had vomited, but he did not examine him for alcohol. He did not smell alcohol. Witness admitted that the haemorrhage was due to rupture of the central meningeal artery, which could be ruptured by an indirect force such as a fall from a high place.

FRIEND'S EVIDENCE

The next witness was Nanao Kambei, a shop proprietor and a friend of Sasaki's, who has a shop in Hatamen Street, near the scene of the Japanese Officer's death. At midnight on May 26, Kambei said, he went to book seats for Sasaki and a friend in a bus leaving Jehol the following morning and then went to their hotel to inform them.

They were out, but, returning home, he met them, and told them what he had done. This was between 12.10 and 12.20 a.m. As he talked to them he saw two soldiers on the west side of Hatamen Street going north. They were in khaki and were British. He knew they were British because he had lived in Peiping for ten years and knew their uniforms.

He saw the soldiers light cigarettes. They then passed, and he left Sasaki, and his friend Sazuka. Soon afterwards, he heard a cry, he thought in English, and saw several rickshaw men running away. Then he saw one soldier chase a man northward, and lost sight of them.

The second soldier crossed to another man, as if to strike him but he did not notice carefully, as he was watching the running men. He saw the first soldier fall, and then turn back. He thought it was an ordinary street brawl, and went home. When the second soldier crossed the street as if to assault a man, he did not see a blow struck.

He got home just after 12.30 a.m. Soon afterwards the bell rang. He opened the door and saw Sezuka outside and Sasaki in a rickshaw. Sasaki groaned when he was spoken to. He advised Sazuka to take Sasaki to hospital, and rang up the consular police. He then followed to the hospital, and Sasaki died shortly after he arrived. Sazuka he saw no weapons on them.

The court was then adjourned until to-morrow, when Kambei will be cross-examined and Sazuka give evidence.

FARMERS IN BATTLE WITH POLICE

Both Sides Use Rifles In Village Near Soochow

OVERDUE TAXES CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Shanghai, June 29.

A skirmish between the Peace Preservation Corps and some farmers occurred in Wei Ching Tang village, near Soochow, on the afternoon of June 28, resulting in the death of one farmer and the wounding of seven other men, whilst one peace preservation officer is missing. The trouble started when some policemen were sent to the village to tell the farmers to pay their overdue taxes. The farmers refused to comply and one of the farmers hit a policeman on the head with a heavy wooden club, rendering him unconscious for several hours. When the peace preservation corps attempted to arrest this farmer the other farmers resisted and tried to seize the officers' rifles. The police then were forced to open fire, which was returned by the farmers, several of whom carried antiquated rifles. The headquarters of the Peace Preservation Corps then sent reinforcements to the village.

Another version of the affair is that Koo Tse-an, a farmer who failed to pay his taxes, was placed under arrest and taken to an office for inquiries. Over 300 farmers gathered around the office and forcibly seized the arrested farmer. The Peace Preservation Corps, numbering over 100, tried to take back their prisoner and a fight ensued, rifles, knives, axes, etc., being brought into play. As a result, three farmers were killed and eight others wounded, all by gunshot wounds. The casualties of the Peace Preservation Corps included four seriously wounded, two slightly wounded, and one missing.—(N.C.D.N.)

U.S. ADMIRAL'S WISH

FLEET TO CROSS THE EQUATOR

Admi. Joseph M. Reeves, Commander-in-Chief of the American Fleet, which is at present engaged in naval manoeuvres off the Pacific end of the Panama Canal, states the "Army and Navy Register" (Washington) of May 16, is reported to have declared: "I would like to make this a seagoing fleet. I want every man to be able to say when he goes back home that he has crossed the equator." Then the admiral went on to give an outstanding example of what he was talking about: "Why, my chief of staff has never crossed the equator, and he's an admiral." He referred to Rear-Admi. J. O. Richardson. It is said that a survey of the personnel of the fleet indicates that only about 20 per cent. of the officers and men have crossed the magic line and been duly initiated in the traditional ceremonies in honour of Father Neptune.

This is the state of affairs which Admi. Reeves seeks to correct, and now that the fleet is so close by it is entirely probable that a future phase of the grand manoeuvres will take the Navy across the equator and complete the seafaring education of the delinquent members of the fleet. Admi. Reeves himself made his first crossing of the equator as an ensign on the famous trip of the battleship Oregon from the west coast around Cape Horn to join the American fleet assembled off Cuba at the beginning of the Spanish-American War in 1898. It is to be hoped that the ceremonies incident to the crossing will be preserved in photographic form so that the American people may have an opportunity of seeing what the equatorial initiation is all about.

CHENGTU-CHUNGKING RAILWAY

Chengtu: Forming a part of the reconstruction programme of Szechwan, the construction of the Chengtu-Chungking Railway will be started as soon as the surveying work, now being feverishly pushed, is completed.

Negotiations have been concluded between the Szechwan Provincial Government and the China Development Finance Corporation for a $4,800,000 construction loan to be secured on the Szechwan reconstruction bonds for 1936, part of the Railway Reconstruction Loan, and the revenue of the railway itself after completion. Construction work will be undertaken by the Schewan-Kweichow Railway Company.

With a total length of 523 kilometers, the projected line will link up Chengtu with Chungking, passing through Chienyang, Tzuyang, Tzuchung, Neikiang and Yungchuan, in the central and richest section of Szechwan. The hardest part of the engineering work will be at the mountainous Yungchuan - Chungking section, where a 800-meter tunnel will have to be built.—Central News Agency.

A small fire broke out yesterday on the north side of Stonecutters Island. Two contractors' matsheds were ablaze. The fire was soon under control, no extensive damage or casualties being reported. A fire float was dispatched to the fire.

THE NAVAL TREATY

What Is The Practical Value Of It?

By SIR HERBERT RUSSELL

With a minimum of that acrimony which appears inevitable in any debate in the United States Senate in which Great Britain figures in any shape or form, the London Naval Treaty has been ratified at Washington. Mr. Norman Davis said that "some things the United States wanted were not in the Treaty, but there was nothing in it to which this country objected," and Admi. Standley thinks it is sufficiently satisfactory that "Great Britain is not allowed to have cruisers superior to ours, nor guns superior to ours, and she has not got them." As a member of the American delegation to London, none knows better than Admi. Standley that Great Britain never wanted to be "allowed" cruisers nor guns "superior" to those of the United States, all the efforts of the British representatives being directed towards reduction of the maximum in tonnage and weapons which the Americans showed so much reluctance to abate.

The 1935-36 London Naval Conference has resulted in a Three-Power Naval Agreement. Japan stood out for clearly-stated reasons, and, although she is in no way bound to anything, it is more than likely that she will generally follow the detailed limitations for the various categories, probably with a general tendency to keep under rather than to go over them. Italy assumed a pose of injured innocence; played fast and loose with the conference, and must have been a good deal chagrined to discover that so far from being disconcerted by her peevishness, the other delegates displayed a bored indifference to all her "reservations" and refusals to do anything more than air her grievances. She may or may not ultimately patronize the London Naval Treaty, but there is not the faintest feeling of suspense in consequence of her deferred decision.

CRAZE FOR "COLLECTIVITY"

What does this latest Naval Treaty actually achieve? If any one definite incident were necessary to give a final "conge" to the long-moribund Disarmament Conference, this was provided when Japan announced that she was breaking away from the Washington Naval Treaty. That step absolutely finished all idea of disarmament, or, more correctly, of international limitations of armament. There remained the question of "upper limits" to the displacement and artillery of ships of different categories. Under the terms of the former London Naval Treaty a fresh Conference had to be called during 1935, and a new agreement arrived at, otherwise the existent treaty restrictions would have gone by default. The British Cabinet, with its current craze for "collectivity," could not bear the idea of default. I doubt very much whether any other of the great naval Powers would have raised a finger to prevent it in the face of world affairs. After taking soundings, in the form of "preliminary discussions" in 1934—not wholly encouraging—the British Government "took the lead," and invited the other four Powers who had taken part in the former London Conference to come and do it again.

I do not want to go back over recent history, which is both familiar and fresh in memory. The real point is what is the value of this new agreement? In passing it on to the American Senate for ratification, the Foreign Relations Committee expressed the view that there can be no harm in ratifying it, as there "is nothing to lose." This scarcely amounts to a congratulatory assesament. No three Powers could have been chosen between which the probability of naval rivalry is less than France, Great Britain, and the United States. In effect, these three Powers have agreed between themselves not to do what there is not the least reason to suppose they would have done had there been no agreement. Surely, there is something just a little ridiculous in the spectacle of three great nations, all perfectly friendly, solemnly covenanting not to do what they never intended doing.

JAPAN'S POSITION

What, then, has this treaty accomplished? It binds the signatory Powers not to go beyond a displacement of 35,000 tons and a gun calibre of 14in. in new battleship construction. If there had been more of this collective pledging, it is pretty certain that the Admiralty would have going little if anything, beyond 25,000 tons and 12in. guns and banked upon the other countries responding to such a sane example. Germany, free to do absolutely as she pleases, is satisfied with 26,000 tons and 11in. guns, but she may not remain so if the other leading sea Powers mean to go much beyond these limitations. In the cruiser category a deduction has been effected for the period of the treaty; 8,000 tons displacement and 6in. guns now being the upper limits. But the defect of this new treaty is the defect of the League of Nations; it is only sectional. Suppose Japan elects to build superbattleships with stupendous guns. I do not imagine she contemplates anything of the kind, but after the end of this year she will be at perfect liberty to do so should she choose. How long is it to be supposed that the United States would be content with upper limits of 35,000 tons and 14in. guns if the country on the other side of the Western Pacific laid down ships of 40,000 tons and 18in. guns?

* * *

Whatever may be the merits of these international naval agreements—and the ease with which they can be denounced at convenience leaves a haunting sense of futility—it is unfortunately inevitable that they give rise to a certain amount of friction. Thus, when, as I have already quoted, Admi. Standley speaks of what "Great Britain is not allowed to have," he, quite unintentionally I have no doubt, produces a feeling of irritation over here. That the British Navy should only be "allowed" to fulfil its own requirements by the consent of any other country is a position so alien to centuries of tradition that, when expressed with such directness, the result is bound to be instinctive resentment. I can quite believe the same sort of thing occurs on the other side of the Atlantic. The bulk of American naval opinion favours the 16in. gun, and the sacrifice of this to the British view is one of "the things we wanted, but did not get" referred to by Mr. Norman Davis. It cannot conduce to a still more friendly feeling for the Americans to be told that "they are not allowed to have" a 16in. gun because of British opposition, which, of itself, is enough to make them more urgently want a 16in. gun. Probably, this one point somewhat qualifies what I have said about the treaty binding the signatories not to do what they would not have done in any case, but, human nature being what it is, I do think the American Navy Department would have found a 14in. gun quite big enough had there been no restriction at all. So little, in fact, do agreements of this sort, which involve a sense of concession, really amount to "collectivity" if this word also involves unanimity.

DECLINE OF BRITISH NAVAL STRENGTH

Now it seems to me that if there is any real merit at all in these naval treaties, it lies in the fact of developing a more friendly intimacy between the nations which enter into them. A country would be scarcely likely to arrive at a concessional understanding concerning its armaments with a country which it disliked or mistrusted. But, honestly, I cannot believe that any such result has attended the experiment. Since the signing of the 1930 London Naval Treaty the British have nursed an uneasy and growing sense that they were "done" solely to facilitate the American claim to "parity." I think we were "done" on that occasion, but the fault rested with Labour Ministers, for I certainly should not blame the Americans for getting the best of the bargaining. The point is how did this treaty help towards better relations with the United States? And if it did not do that—which on our side I am pretty sure it did not—then there is really nothing at all to its credit. How much there is to its discredit has been only too effectively demonstrated by the serious decline of British naval strength during the past six years.

I fear I shall want a very great deal of converting to appreciate the modern diplomacy, which consists of minding everybody else's business and encouraging everybody else to mind our own. As far as I can see, there is one definite point of advantage in the latest naval treaty, and this is the fixing of maximum limits to the displacement and armament of various types of warships. This, at any rate, eliminates any risk of insensate competition; of the building of naval "Queen Marys" which, no doubt, there are plenty of people to think would be a very fine thing to do. But for the rest it is all pretty grandmotherly stuff, as the American Foreign Relations Committee evidently think in expressing the view that the ratification of it "can do no harm." In fact, it simply comes to this; our paternal and fraternal Government made up its mind that there must be a Naval Conference, and, in view of the manifest impracticability of approaching any of the subjects which really matter, the only thing to do was to try and impose a solemn importance upon sheer trivialities. It is rather a pity that the British Navy should be the pawn of such a farcical business. Logical reasoning seems to find precious little place in our present-day diplomacy. At the very time when we are being confronted with the worthlessness of international agreements by the convincing methods adopted by Mussolini and Hitler, our statesmen think the moment ripe for framing-up a new one. At the very time the British Government has been forced to the conclusion that we must spend £300,000,000 upon "looking to our moat" they think the moment is opportune for a new lap of tying ourselves up in more knots, presumably to convince the other nations how sincerely we regret lapsing back into the commonsense posture of ensuring security in a strong defence.

ENGLISH AS THE LANGUAGE OF THE PIPE SMOKER

Berlin, June 11.

The English language is the only one in the world that can be spoken with a pipe in the mouth.

So comments a Berlin newspaper correspondent in an article describing how he bought a pipe in London.

"Many people even assert," he says, "that it sounds best of all when spoken like that. If it were not generally known that English was invented before pipe-smoking, one might suppose that the latter were not without influence on the formation of this language.

"The Englishman," says the writer, "as with everything he is fond of, makes a special cult of his pipe.

"We ordinary Europeans regard pipe-smoking as a comparatively simple affair. But anyone who goes into a real old London tobacco shop will soon realise with this conception he has made a great mistake.

ONE HOUR IN TOBACCONIST SHOP

"In one street, for instance, I simply wanted to buy a little tobacco, and reckoned that 10 minutes would suffice. But after an hour I left the shop with a new pipe, three special packets of tobacco, a box of snuff and a mass of new ideas which will remind me till the end of my days of what a barbarian at pipe-smoking I had hitherto been."

THE SHARE MARKET

Harriman's Weekly Review

Saturday, July 4.

Messrs. G.A. Harriman and Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon to-day states:—

The local market during the week under review was rather quieter than it has been for some time with rates generally a little easier. Philippine Gold mining share were also less active locally but trading apparently was very brisk in Manila. Local investment counters were rather steady with Hongkong Electrics changing hands at $50½/50½. Hongkong Trams opened firm at 10.55 but closed a shade easier with sales reported at $10.30. Hongkong Telephones (old) were unchanged at $25 buyers. Hongkong Lands came to business at $30. Among the minor issues Cements were put through at the opening at $9.10/20, but closed much easier with shares on offer at $8.60. Hotels after being dealt in at $4.55 were wanted at $4.50. Providents (old) continued in demand at $1 with sellers asking for 5 cts. more. China Lights receded to $10.50 after sales at $10.70. In the Philippine mining section the feature of the week was a spectacular rise in Itogons which improved over 50% in value since our last report rising from $1.25 to $1.90. The whole mining list continued very firm and still higher levels have been attained again this week. Antamoks on the announcements of a 5 centavos (50%) interim dividend payable July 15 appreciated to $5.20 cum. but some profit taking brought out sellers from $5.15 down to $5.05 cum. They closed firm at $5.10. Big Wedge firmed up to 54 cts. with shares still wanted at this rate. Consolidated Mines came into the limelight here and large parcels of this low par value share (1 centavo) dealt in from 3 up to 4½ cents. Demonstrations were quieter between $1.07 and $1.09. Explorations were taken at 28/29 cts. and Gold Creek came into prominence, after long neglect at 19 cts. buyers. Paracale-Guamus were quietly steady at 67 cts. and Masbate were sought for at 80 cts. San Mauricio have "see-sawed" from $1.04 to $1.15, closing in good enquiry around $1.14. United Paracale have very keen enquiries buyers bidding as high as $1.23 for scrip which is the highest price reached as yet for this stock. The sterling section was very steady with Hongkong Banks in request at $1582½ after sales at $1585. Unions were sold at $525 and more shares could be placed at $522½. The local market closes on the quiet side but mining issues continue to be active.

Business during the week has been done at the following prices:—

H. K. Banks, $1580/1582½.
Unions, $525.
Lights (old), $10.65/10⅞.
Lights (new), $7½.

FINANCE BILL DEBATE

London, July 3.

Winding up the debate on the third reading of the Finance Bill, which passed the House of Commons without a division, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said in view of the acceleration of the defence programme, it was certain there would be a deficit on the present Budget.

The only question, said Mr. Chamberlain, was what size the deficit would be. There would shortly be additional supplementary estimates covering additional expenditure.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.
